Highlander Pride Is Born

Has the feeling of anticipation ever been so intense that it becomes concrete— We, the students of GHS, have eagerly and somewhat desperately awaited a breakthrough in the realm of pessimism and indifference that has overshadowed us. We have continuously looked for a passing “something” to grasp and deliver us from this stagnant sphere where faith and pride have been non-existent.

Finally, a ray of hope severed the dismal attitude that engulfed us. The 1970-71 Undefeated Wrestling Team provided us with a fresh outlook. The spirit and enthusiasm has carried over into this year as our football team enjoyed their best season ever. Win or lose, they were backed by the student body with pride. The spirit has affected all facets of our school life, whether on the playing field or in the classroom. We, the Highlanders, have conquered and not adhered to defeat.

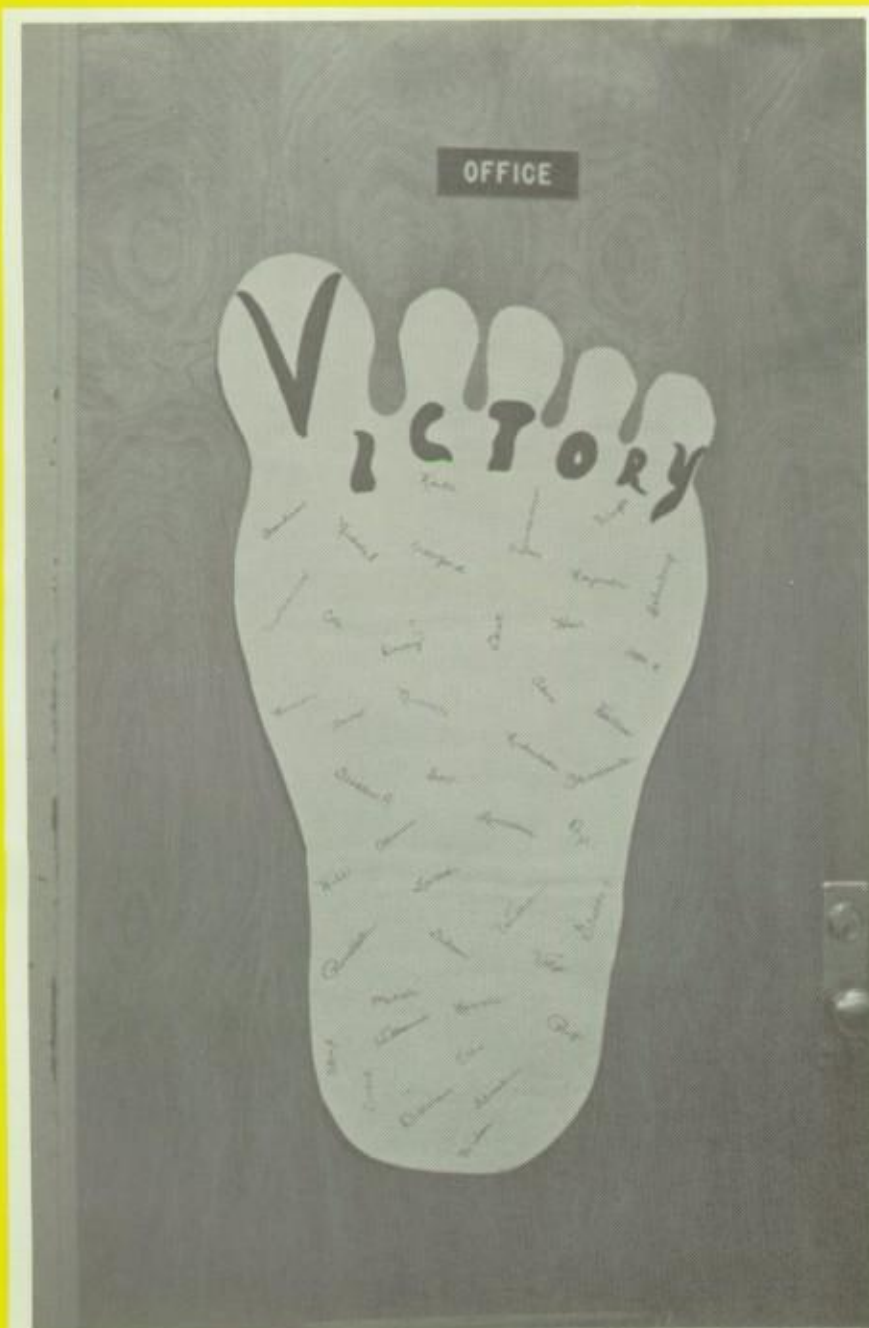

One ray of hope, among the shambles of defeat, has strengthened us in our quest for unity. Holding onto the belief that we must set our goals and put forth our greatest efforts in obtaining them, we can, and will, achieve phenomenal results.

Success Is Obtained In Our Quest For Unity.

Highlanders Are Delivered From The Realm Of Apathy

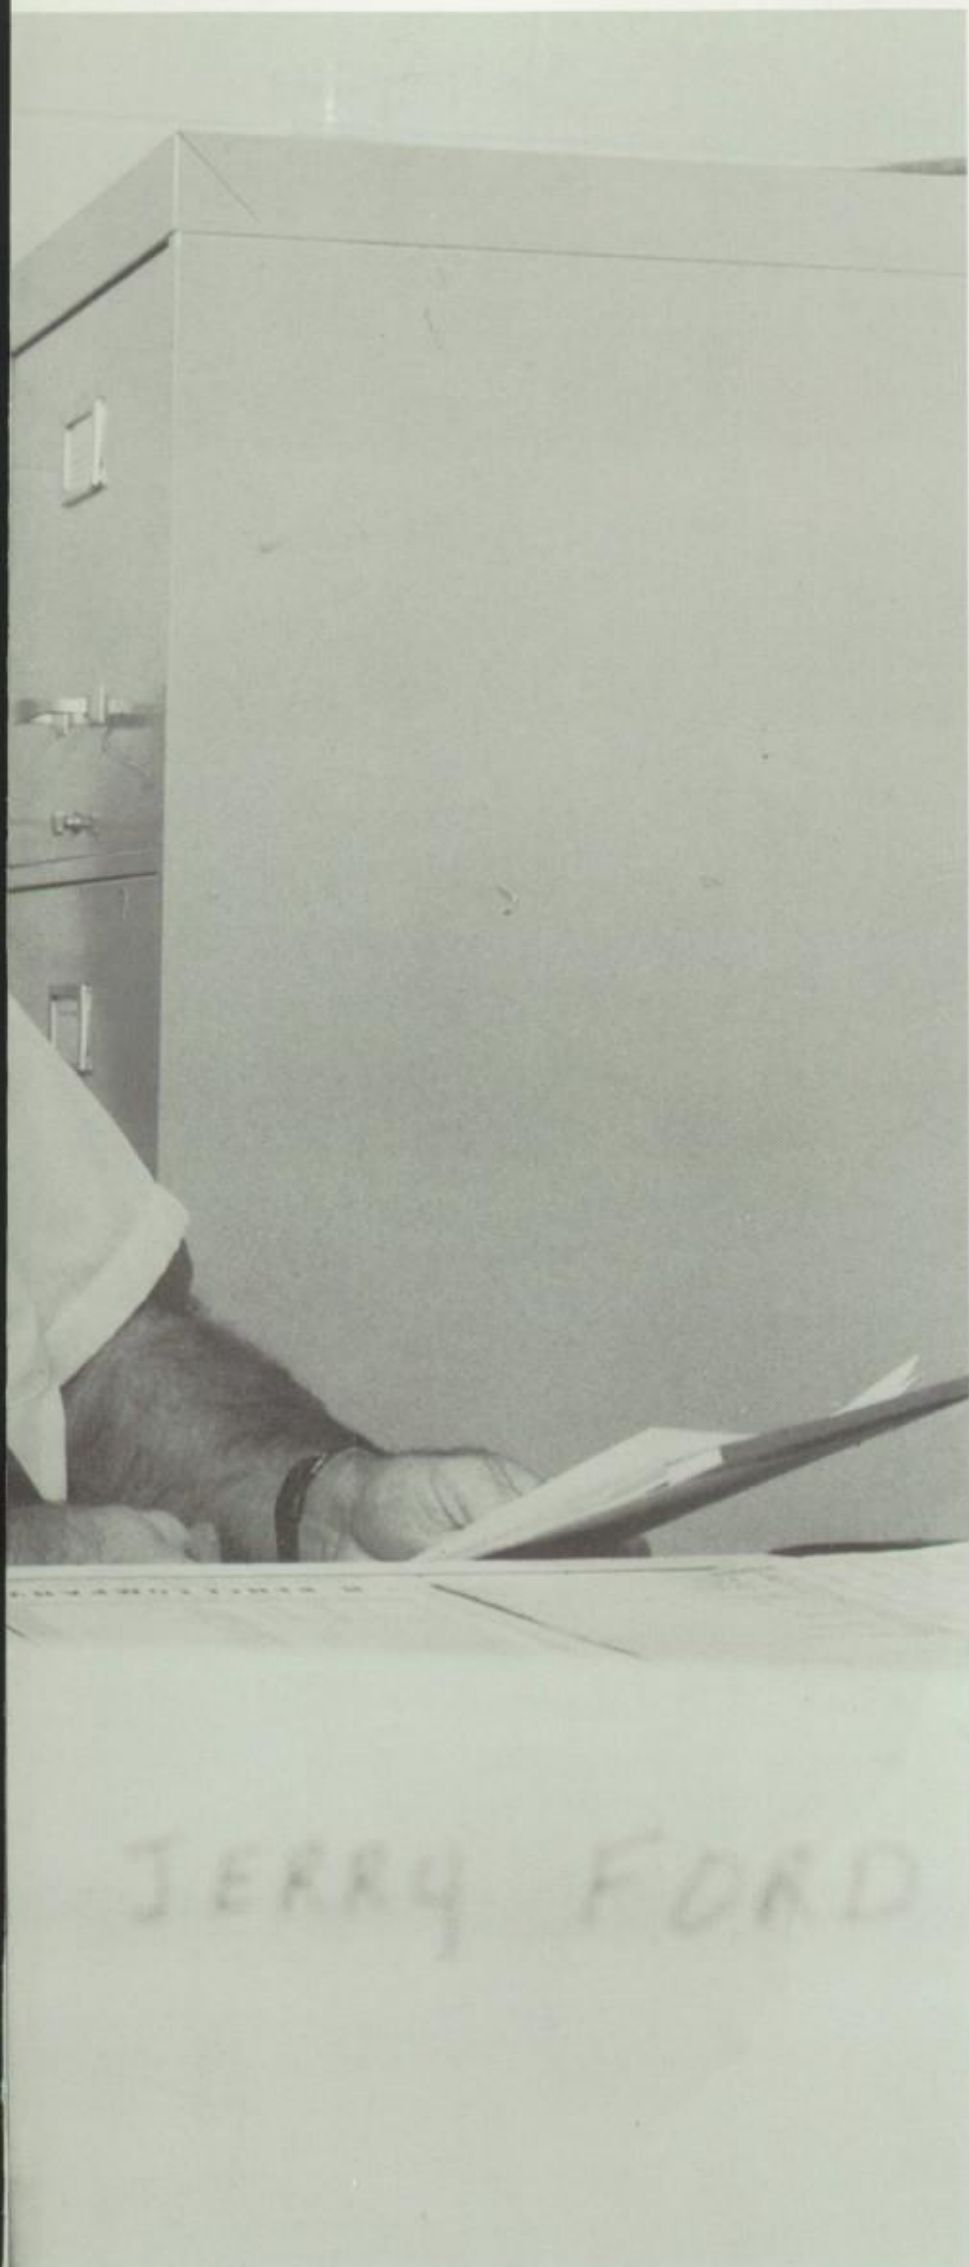

We have discovered the importance of unity, and yet we know that we must never lose our individualism. With the realization that the Glenvar of today consists of the accomplishments of past Highlanders and the dreams of future Highlanders, we will succeed in building Glenvar into a source of pride, not only for ourselves, but also for our community.

We have created "the Highlander pride," and have discovered that we can gain the respect of others if only we respect ourselves. All we needed was a foundation, something we could identify with and be proud of. One undefeated team, determined and able, has succeeded in delivering Glenvar from the realm of apathy.

Mr. Jerry Ford Is Honored For His Dedication To Glenvar

Dedication as defined by Webster's Dictionary means, "to address (a book, etc.) to someone as a sign of honor and affection." So we, the yearbook staff, have dedicated the '72 Crusader as a sign of our honor and affection to a man who has given much to Glenvar High School.

In the short two years that he has been here, he has created for himself an air of respect and love from the student body. With a trace of a Tennessee accent in his voice and a smile on his face, he has become a very necessary part of GHS. Because he is one of the few faculty members who comes into contact with all the students, he is a very important link in the chain that connects the students with the administration. He has achieved respect for himself as a disciplinarian, a less than enviable position. He has proven himself to be a man the students can turn to when they need an answer to a question or maybe just a pass to get into class. He supports Glenvar in every aspect of its school life, whether scholastically, administratively, or athletically. He always has time for the students.

And so, with our dedication of the yearbook, we honor Mr. Jerry Ford for his dedication to Glenvar High School.

Academics

The exchange of opinions, morals, and habits among the students, teachers, and administration is finally a "happening" at GHS. The majority of teachers were not only concerned about the standard education the students received, but attempted to prepare them for life outside the sheltered educational system. We were taught that life is not always pleasant to everyone and that if change is to come about it must be done by "us".

When despair and desperation occur, we have learned to proceed and not wallow in this stagnant mire. A link of coherent communication between the older and younger facets of our school has resulted in a closeness of spirit or sense of unity. We have learned to accept and appreciate other people and their ideas, while remaining individualistic and strong in our own convictions. By doing this, we have succeeded in ridding ourselves of the apathy and indifference that enveloped our classrooms.

Mr. Jerry Ford (B.S., M.A. East Tennessee State University) is always busy with Glenvar's affairs.

Mr. Bates Killinger (B.S. Hampden-Sydney, M.ED. University of Virginia), one of the assistant principals of Glenvar, is also interested in track and dramatics.

The principal of Glenvar High School, Mr. C. Verner Crush, (B.S. Roanoke College, M.Ed. VPI) contributes much leadership in running Glenvar High School.

Administration Strives To Bridge Gap

This year at Glenvar High School evoked respect and admiration from the student body towards the administration. Our principal, Mr. C. Verner Crush, and his assistant principals, Mr. Bates R. Killinger and Mr. Jerry Ford, worked diligently throughout the year to bridge the communication gap between students and faculty. This proved to be a successful effort.

The seniors held a special respect towards Mr. Crush, by his willingness to grant senior privileges. Mr. Killinger contributed much of his time as athletic director. Through the aid of student assistants, Mr. Ford was able to cope with the student attendance records.

Mrs. Fielder and Mr. Crush find this problem to be one of many.

Mr. Killinger shows enthusiasm as he shows Glenvar's 1971 Football Schedule to some members of the faculty.

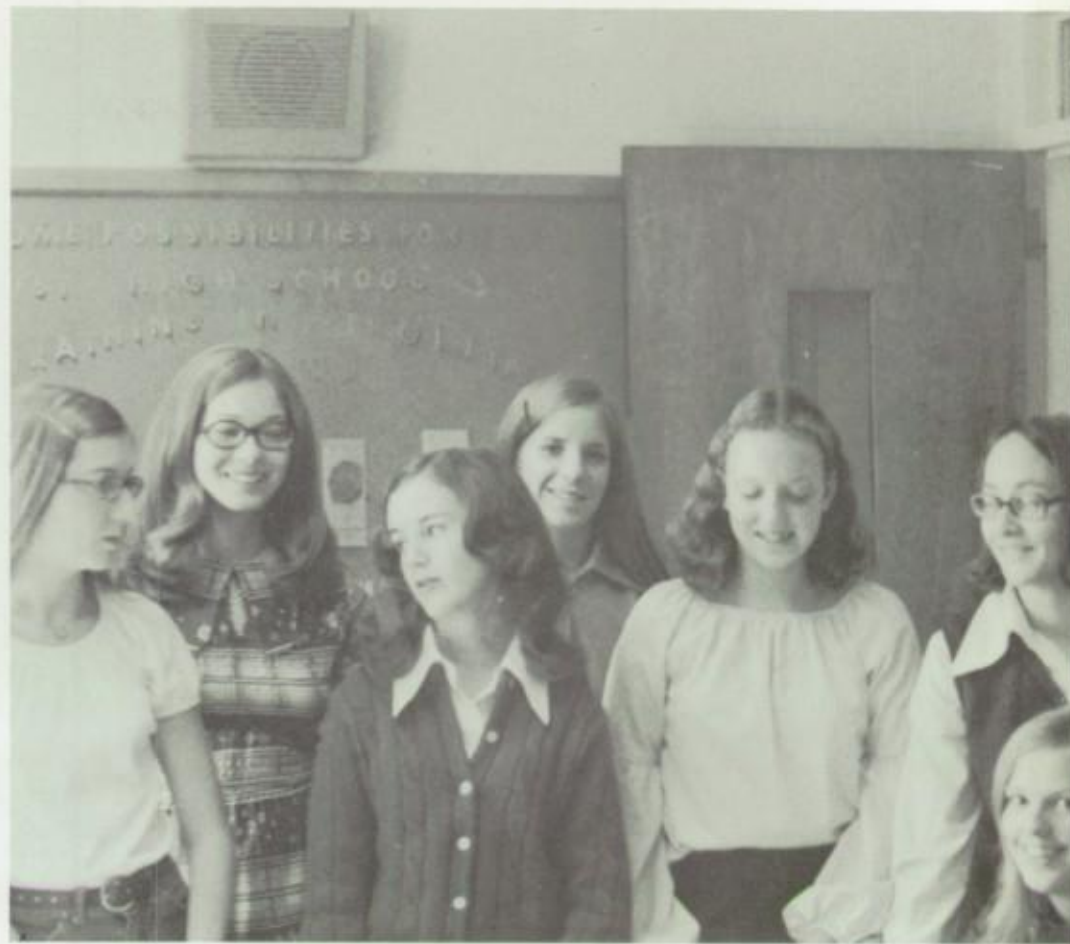

Mr. Jerry Dupree (B.S., V.P.I., M.Ed., V.A.), Mrs. Anna Johnson (A.B. Virginia State College), Keyettes; Mr. Joe Davis (B.S. Richmond Professional Institute, M.S. Radford), Basketball Coach; Mrs. Edna Follmar (B.A. Roanoke College).

Mr. Dupree works diligently at preparing PSAT test for evaluation.

Coach Davis combines understanding and wisdom in aiding students for the future.

Guidance Assistants; Joanne Lada, Donna Barnette, Sheryl Richardson, Betty Tingler, Lynn Pedigo, Wendy Scott, Carole Dillard.

Mrs. Johnson compiles schedules for rising Juniors.

Guidance Counselors Specialize In Planning For The Future

The Guidance Department has proven itself to be one of the most valuable departments at GHS. Guidance in planning education after high school is essential to most students. A schedule of studies is made up at the beginning of the year for every student. The student's needs, abilities, and future plans are all taken into consideration.

Counselors often recommend courses that pertain to a student's interests or courses that might help an individual to choose a career. In addition, aptitude tests are made available to Juniors and Seniors.

Students from the seventh through the twelfth grades are aware of the fact that they can go to the guidance department with any problem, be it academic or personal. Advice and assistance are always available.

Secretaries Prove To Be Valuable To Us

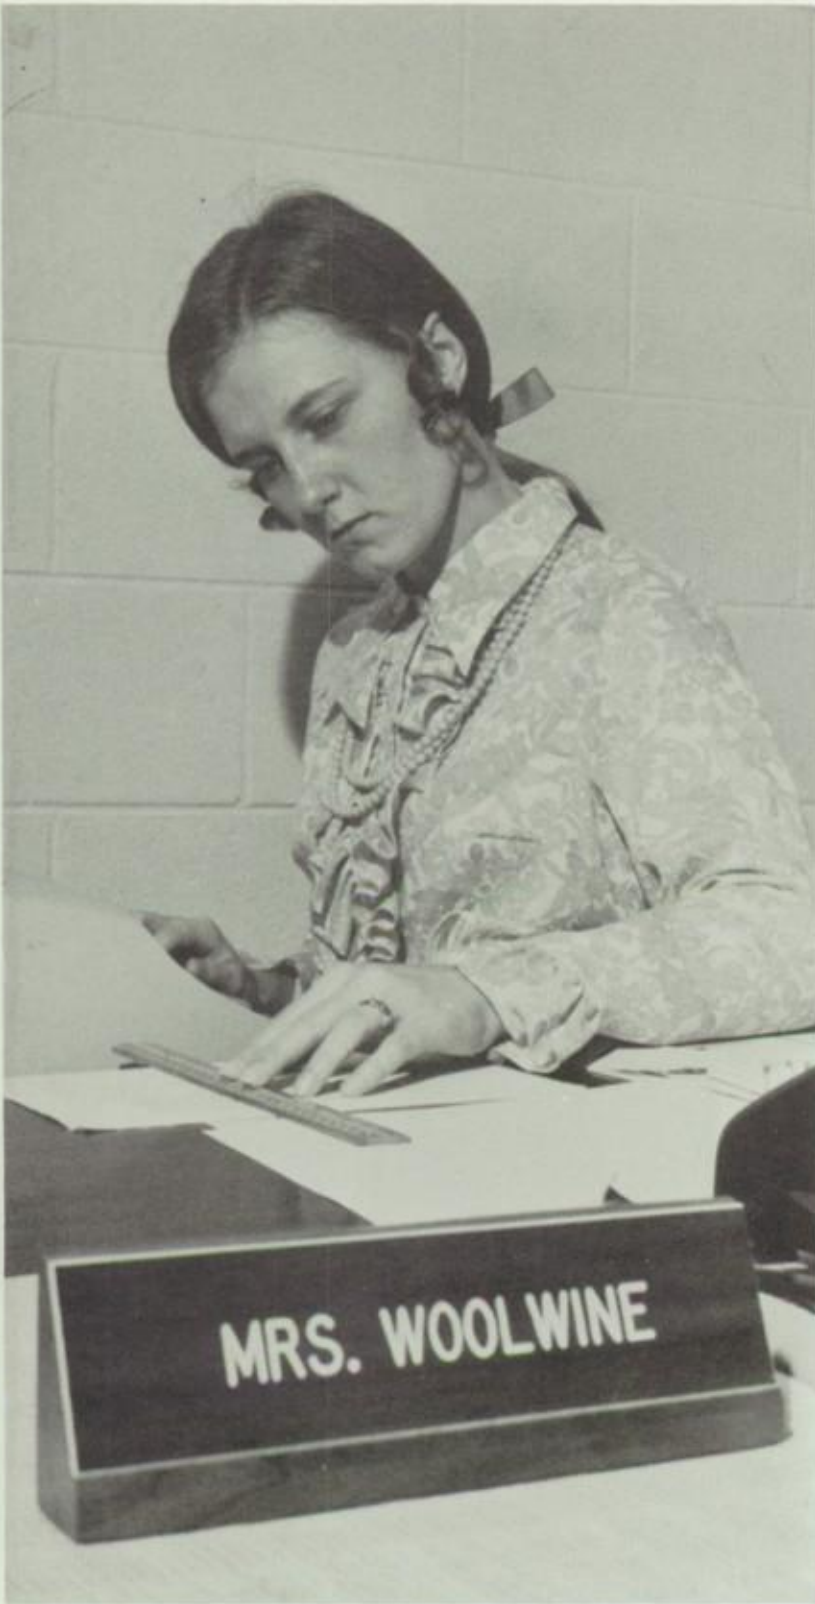

In order to get her many jobs done, Mrs. Woolwine cannot waste time.

Mrs. Fielder finds the telephone to be a constant threat to her sanity.

A hectic and busy day leaves Mrs. Woolwine with a lot of work still to be done.

Mrs. Fielder is distracted by an inquiring student.

Mrs. Hicks finds paper work a little less than enlightening.

The secretaries of Glenvar High School have proven once again to be a valuable asset not only to the administration, but also to the student body. Whenever a student had a question on a certain task to do, he could go and ask the secretaries about it. They were always courteous and helpful no matter how aggravating their day had been. It would be nice if all of us could individually thank them for all the help they have given us, but since we cannot, maybe this is the time to thank the secretaries for all of their time and effort in making Glenvar High School the best.

Two of our librarians Mrs. Kathryn Grizzard (B.S. Radford College, National Honor Society Sponsor) and Mrs. Frances P. Chubb (B.S. Bennett College, M.A. Western Kentucky) discuss the classification of a reference book.

GHS Librarians say, “Get it in the Library.”

“Get in the Library”—Get what? Magazines, filmstrips, records, transparencies, films, tapes, slides, art prints, pamphlets, and many thousands of books.

This was the year to improve the library in many ways. The librarians have been able to boast of the number of books in the school's collection and they are especially proud of the service they have been able to give the students and teachers. An atmosphere of quiet, soft music enables the students to study or read appropriately.

Mrs. Chubb stamps an overdue book.

Library Assistants: Brenda Moore, Denise Wright, Kathy Bordewish, Susan Leonard, Eunice Bayse, Sherry Basham, Jimmy Jones, Lee Hale, Linda Kessel, Robert Wilson, Tommy Owens, and Dale Robertson.

Mrs. Meribeth Flannagan (B.S. Longwood College) Debate Club; Mrs. Mary Hannah (University of North Carolina), Mrs. Diana Athey (Kent State University), Miss Kathryn Reynolds (B.A. Mary Washington College) Sophomore Class, Foreign Language League; Miss Melba Calloway (Roanoke College), Mrs. Janet McKay (B.S. Radford College).

Communication Is The Aim

The name of the English game is communication! General aims of the department this year were to help students become better listeners and better interpreters of what they hear; to help students learn to write clearly, and to become mature and perceptive readers.

New in the department this year was the division of eleventh and twelfth grade English classes into general and college bound.

Along with the regular activities of the department, several movies such as "Camelot" and "My Fair Lady" were seen to bring a cultural atmosphere to the classes.

Mrs. Hannah hides a smirk at student's incredulous answer.

Mrs. Nichols, English Department head, pauses during a busy day.

Bubblegum popping brings a reprimanding look from Mrs. Athey.

Mrs. Barbara Williams (B.A., M. Ed., American University), Miss Barbara Tabor (B.S. Madison College), Miss Ann Clayton (B.S. in French, M.A. in English), Miss Darla Davis (B.S. in English and Math), Mrs. Dee Nichols (A.B. and M.Ed. Asbury College and University of Virginia), Miss Ann Hardenbeck (B.A. Marshall University).

Gesile Lineberry becomes absorbed in the world of the English paperback, Escape From Nowhere.

Pat Vining reviews material in preparation for an English test.

Mrs. Flannagan flashes a disgusted look at her students as they try to distract the attention of Randy Butterworth.

Miss Tabor tries to make her students aware of the importance of themes in short stories.

Field Trips Are A New Attraction

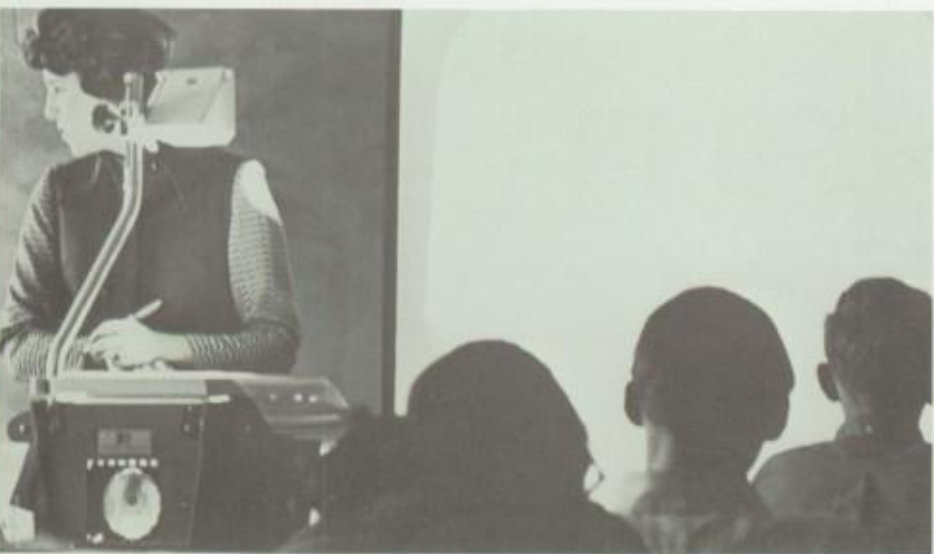

Sharon Twine finds plenty to laugh at in math class.

Ben Johnson quietly searches for the answer to a difficult word problem.

"Math books can be very interesting!", says Miss Dudley and her student teacher, Miss Depugh.

Mrs. Dantzler makes her class more interesting by using the opaque projector.

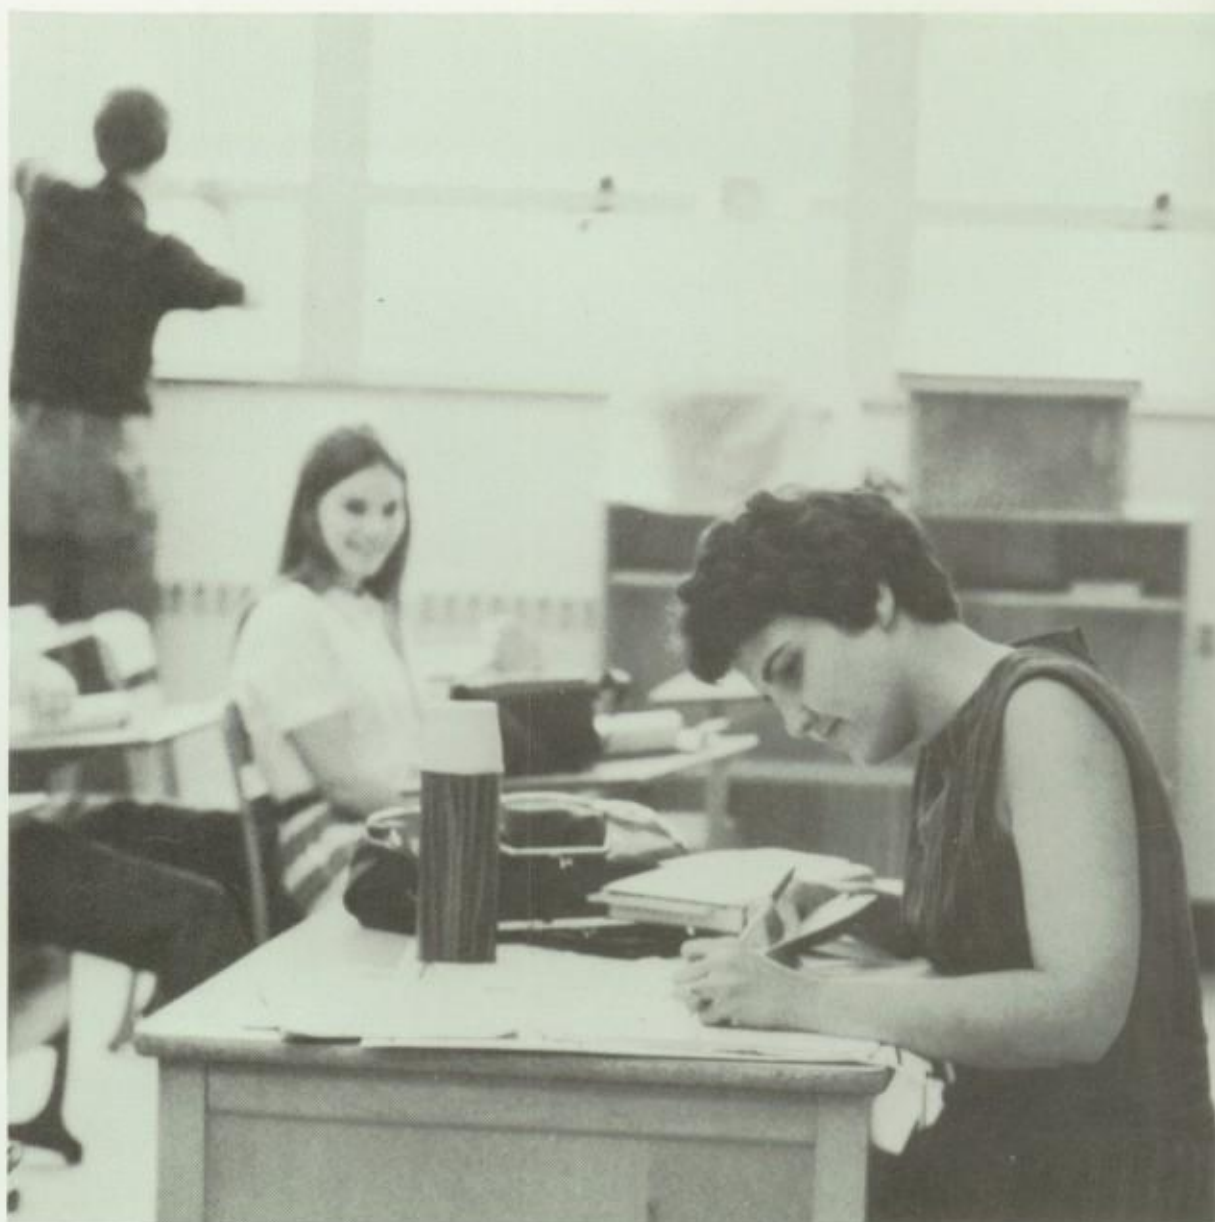

Algebra II students find that lectures on logarithms can be very confusing.

"New Faces" Enlighten Math Department

Mrs. Akers cannot contain her laughter at the antics of her students.

Mrs. Dantzler is engrossed in the tedious task of grading papers.

First row: Mrs. Martha Dantzler (B.A. Converse College, M.Ed., University of Virginia; Mrs. Pamela Cornelison (B.S. Virginia Tech, Mercer University); Miss Carol Altizer (B.S. Radford College, Math Department Chairman, F.T.A. co-sponsor, R.C.E.A. Representative); Mrs. Brenda Criner (B.S., Longwood College); Mrs. Carolyn Pace (B.S. East Tennessee State University, Eighth Grade Sponsor); Second row, Mrs. Sandra Akers (B.S. Radford College, Junior Class Sponsor); Mr. David Blevins (B.S. V.P.I.); Miss Drema Dudley, (B.S. Radford College, M.A. University of Virginia); Miss Linda Ankrom, (B.S., Radford College, Seventh Grade Sponsor).

Mr. Blevins uses his hands to convey a point.

The struggle to become involved and appreciative of Math was still a major problem at G.H.S. Students found it difficult to transform abstract ideas into concrete realizations. Field trips to computer centers were a link between a classroom discussion and a true learning experience.

The Math Department was headed by Miss Altizer who tried to initiate new and relevant material to the Math curriculum. Grouping was used in the 7th and 8th grades according to the students ability. The accelerated or college-bound students took Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II; while the remainder of the students took a business math or a general course. Also, many "new faces" enlightened our Math Department. We were fortunate to have such competent and desirable additions.

Mrs. Criner explains a difficult word problem to one of her students.

Mrs. Pace lectures her class on proper classroom behavior.

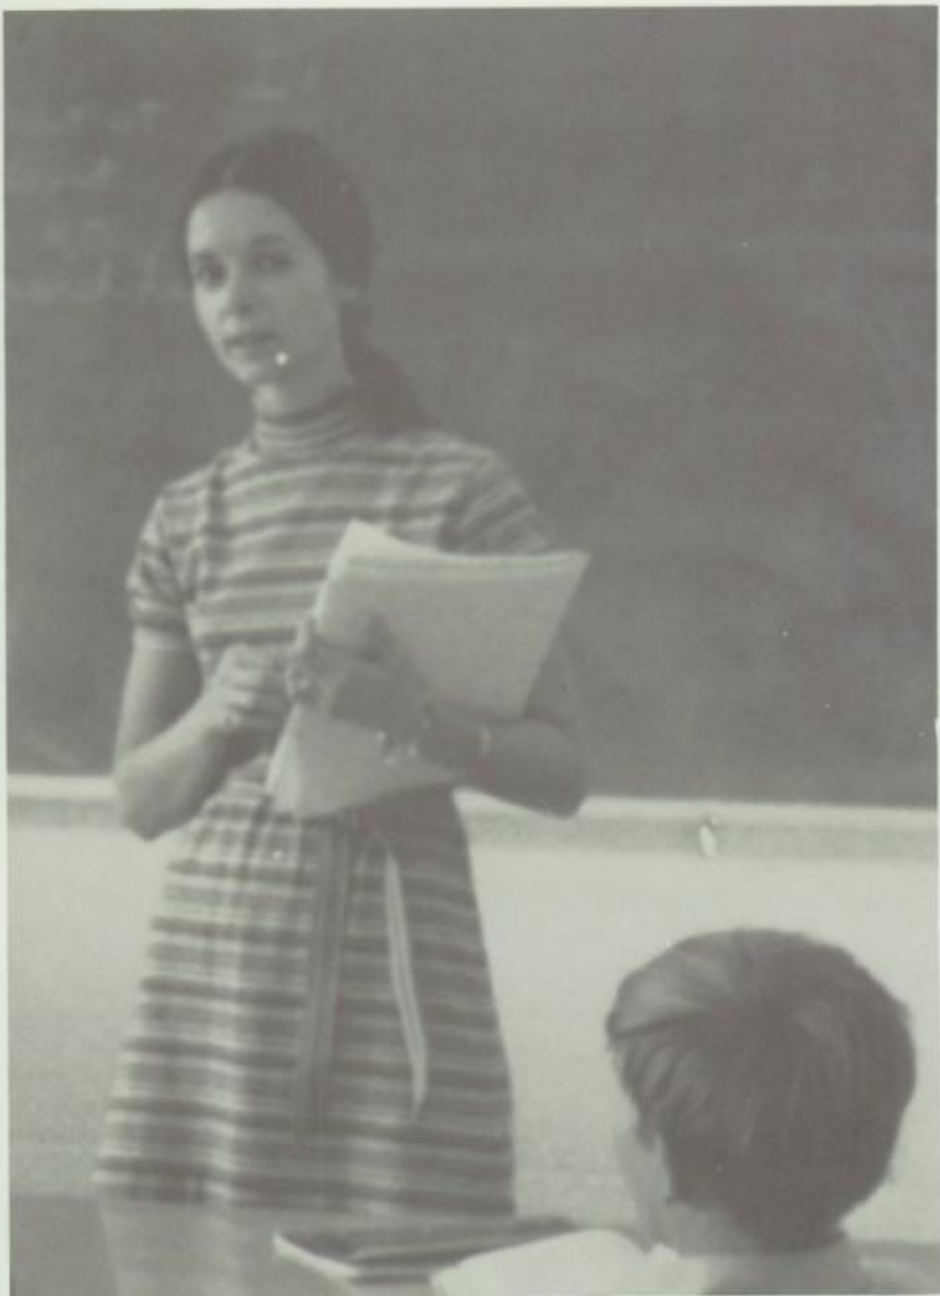

From left to right—Mr. Robert Giles, (East Tennessee State University) wrestling; Mr. Richard Myers, (B.S. Appalachian State) Wrestling; Mrs. Hope Davis, (B.S. Radford); Mrs. Pamela Myers, B.S. Appalachian State) Pep Club; Mr. Gary Whitley, (B.A. Texas A & I); Mrs. Lynn Mooney, (B.S. Winthrop College) Science Club; Miss Leslie Watkins (B.A. Roanoke, College) Science Dept. Head, Science Club; Mr. John Sessions (B.S. University of North Carolina); Mr. Frank Akers. (B.S. VPI) Junior Class Sponsor; Mr. Eddie Jones (B.S. M., Ed. Appalachian State U.V.A.), S.C.A., Golf Coach (Not pictured)

Main Emphasis Is Placed On Ecology.

Mrs. Myers takes time to give individual attention in her science class.

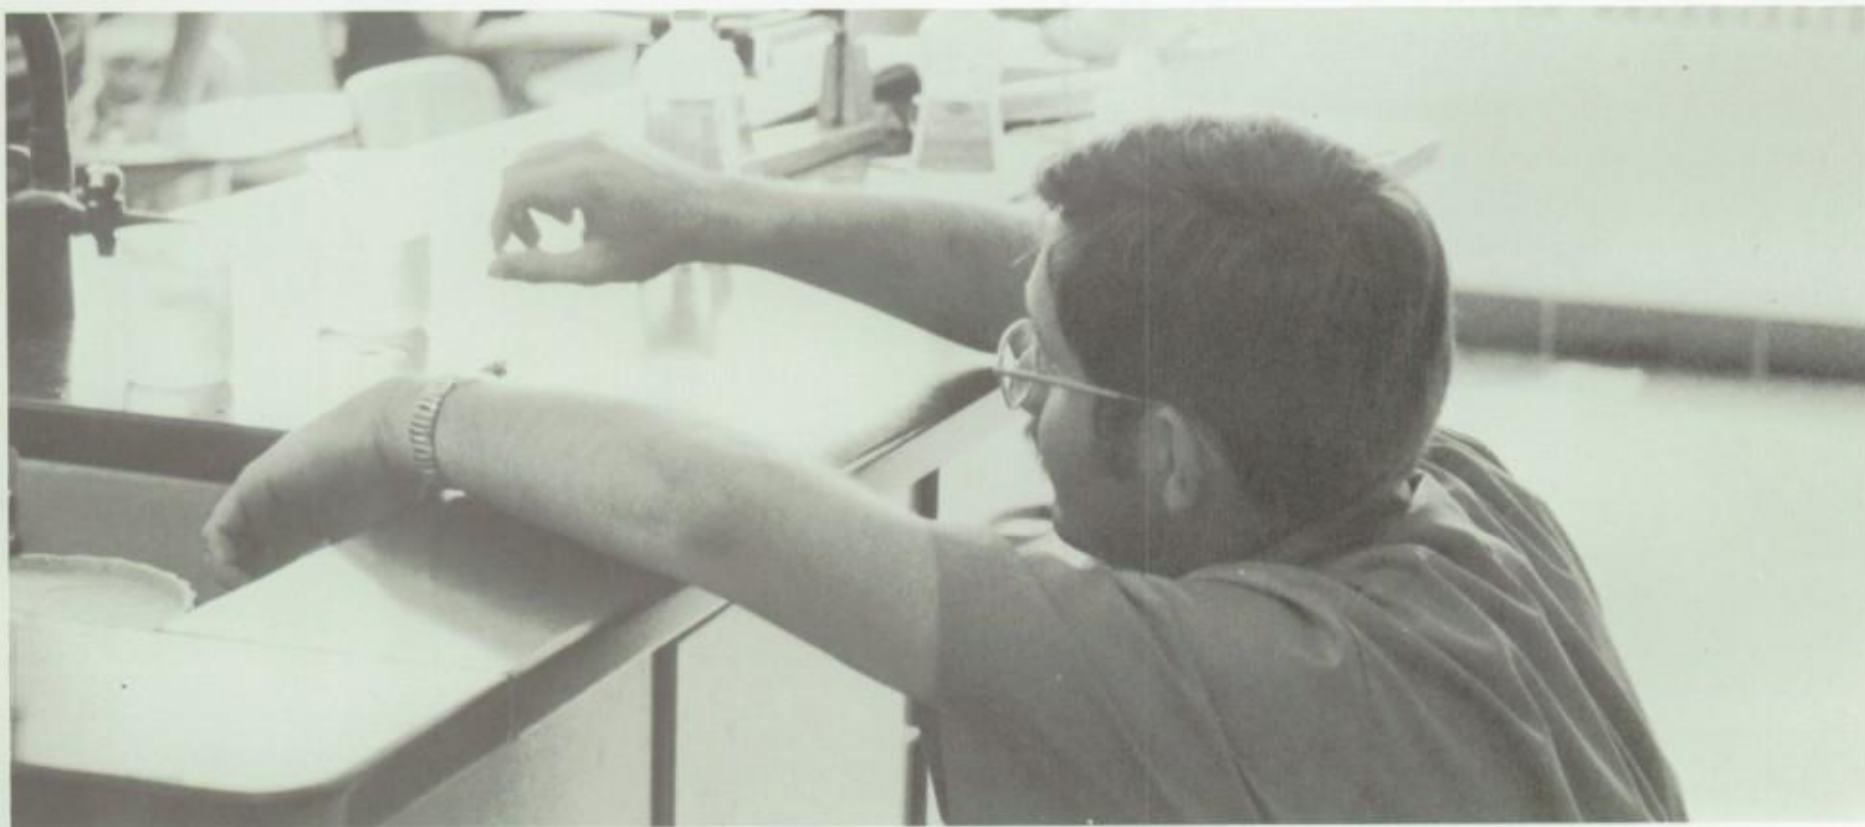

Mrs. Mooney prepares to hand back yesterday's test to her students.

This year the Science Department was again headed by Miss Leslie Watkins. Under her capable hands, a staff of ten qualified teachers succeeded in revealing to Glenvar students the immense possibilities of science.

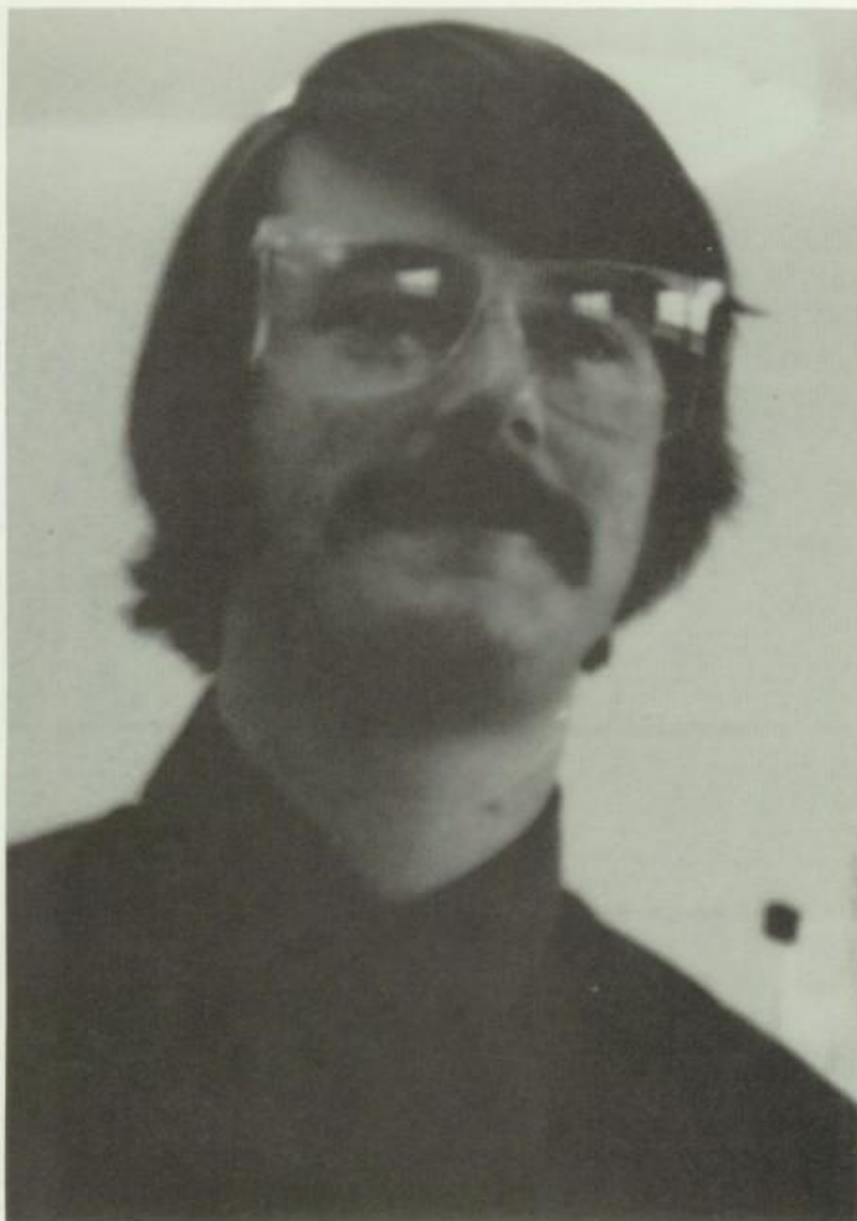

Students were not restricted to the mere use of textbooks in the classrooms. Audio-visual equipment often provided the diversity that was needed in the classroom to keep the students interested. Nature hikes allowed the students to put into use the skills and knowledge that were attained in the classrooms.

Students acquainted themselves with such things as eco systems, Avagadro's hypothesis, or simply how to work a balance. Much emphasis was placed on ecology. Teachers tried to make the students aware of the problems of pollution, over-population and the extinction of certain animal species.

Hopefully, GHS science students will use the knowledge gained in their classes to help solve the problems facing the scientific world of today.

Mr. Whitley finds he must really lower himself to communicate with his students.

Mr. Akers demonstrates the proper way to wear safety glasses.

Students Become Aware of The Living World Around Them

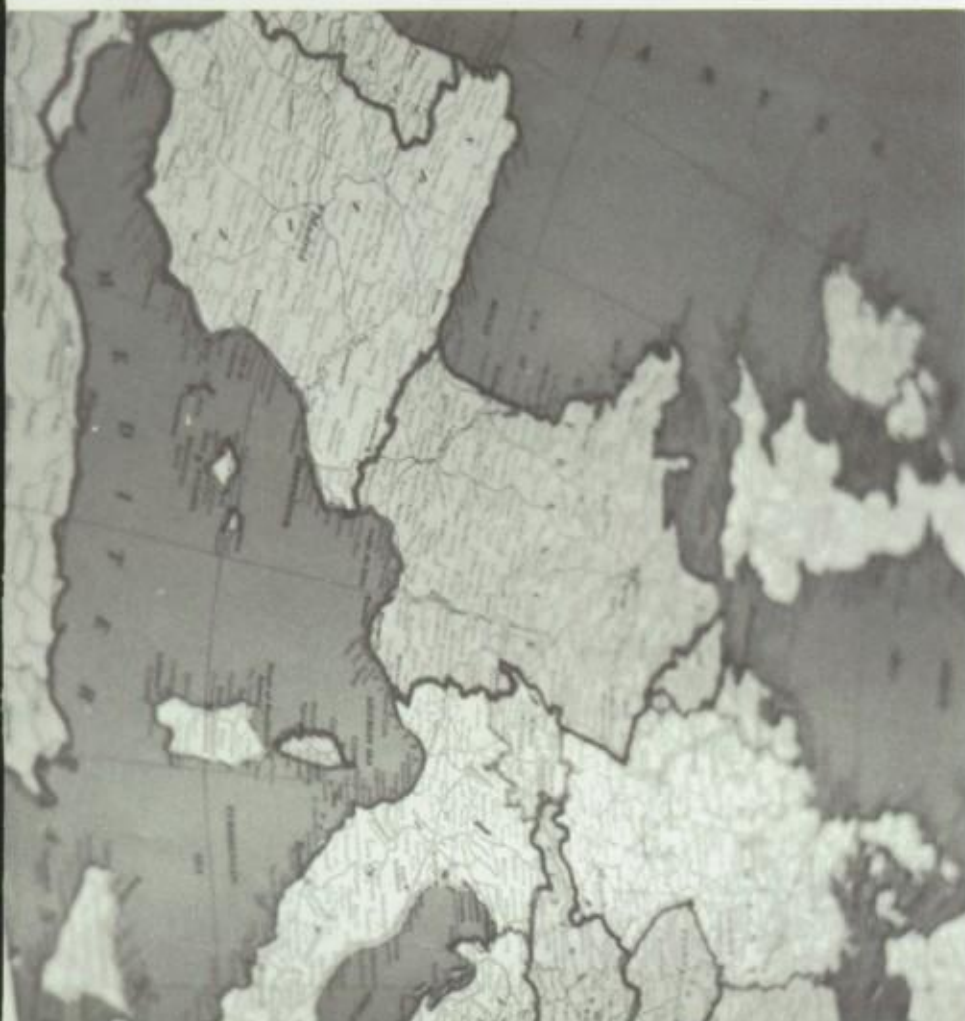

Mr. Myers finds that demonstrations often aid his classroom lectures.

A student carefully pours fifty milliliters of water into a bucket of Platinum Ironite.

Mr. David C. Trumbower (B.A. Hampden-Sydney, Assistant Basketball Coach, Freshman Football Coach, F.C.A. Sponsor), Mrs. Elizabeth P. Driscoll (B.S. Radford, RCEC Sponsor), Mrs. Joyce E. Williams (B.S. Radford, Varsity Cheerleading Sponsor), Mrs. Emma D. Hatcher (B.S. Radford, Social Studies Department Head), Mrs. Barbara Williams (B.A., M.Ed., American University).

Social Studies Is A Must In Today's World

The Social Studies Department of Glenvar High School gave the students an overall view of the history, geography, and government of the United States and its relationships to other countries.

Junior Scholastics, Newsweek Magazine, and newspapers kept the students up-to-date and aware of the problems of today. Audio visual aids gave the students a glimpse of the past and field trips to Old Salem and Richmond gave them a look at history first hand. Guest speakers made the students aware of new and different ideas.

For a student to achieve a well-balanced knowledge of social studies, his curriculum should include Virginia History, World History, American History, American Government, sociology, and psychology.

Current Events Help The Students To Understand Today's Problems

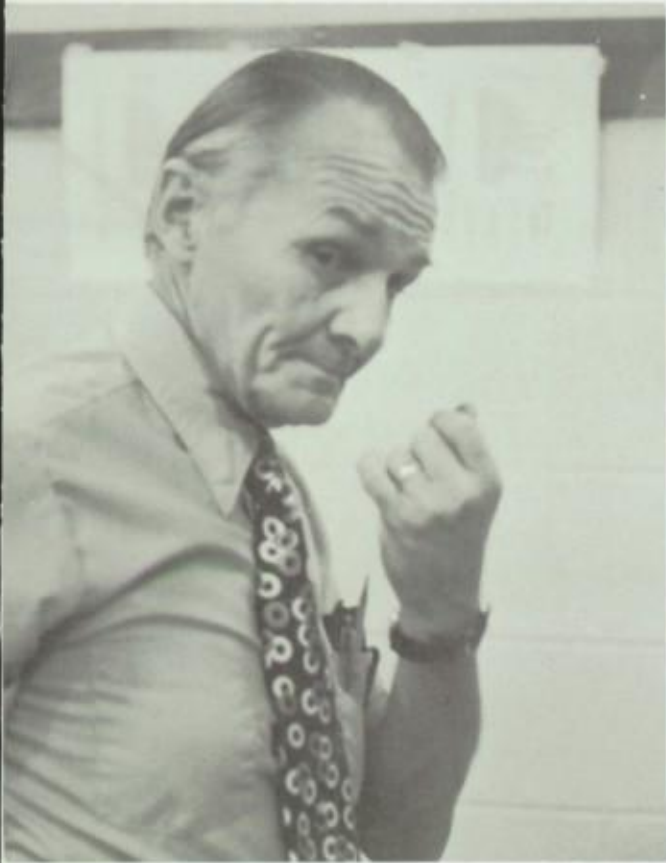

Mr. Richard Myers (B.S. Appalachain State, Wrestling Coach), Miss Nancy L. Robison (B.S. Radford, FTA Co-Sponsor), Mrs. Vickie Bolling (B.S. Radford, JV Cheerleading, Ninth grade sponsor), Miss Jane Hoffman (Transferred to Cave Spring High School), Mrs. Carolyn L. Newell (B.S. Radford, Senior Class, Yearbook Sponsor), Mr. Ronald A. Carpenter (B.A. Eastern Illinois University, B. Ed., Radford College Graduate Work)

Mrs. Hatcher's class sits in anticipation as she hands out some tests.

Mr. Carpenter eyes his students, wondering whether or not they are really as dumb as they seem.

Mrs. Hatcher explains to her classes that the only kind of government is a DEMOCRATIC government.

Mrs. Williams looks as if she'll never receive the raise that is being held back by President Nixon's price freeze.

New Parallel Bars Added To Gymnastics

Mrs. Wright (B.S. Westhampton, G.A.A.) explains which is the rough side of the tennis racket.

Richard Pitts (B.S. East Tennessee State, Football and Track Coach), Joe Davis (B.S. Richmond Professional Institute, M.S. Radford, Basketball Coach), Jerry Strong (B.S. Mars Hill, Football and Track Coach), Thomas Kucer (B.S. West Va., Assistant Football and Tennis Coach).

Football season causes weight loss to Coach Kucer.

Mrs. Grayson referees from the line of scrimmage during her 7th grade class.

The 71-72 G.H.S. P.E. classes, headed by Coach Davis and Mrs. Wright, include among their studies in the classroom; Health, First Aid, Safety, and Drug Education. Rules and skills of various sports such as tumbling, basketball, volleyball, football, and archery are discussed in the classroom. The skills of these sports are taught during the time the gym is split with the girls and boys. During the spring months, fundamentals of softball, track, and tennis are taught. Due to the success of the G.A.A. in money making projects, new uneven parallel bars were added to the gymnastics program. Also new pink towels were added for a feminine touch to the girls physical education classes.

Mrs. Jennings (B.S. VPI), standing, Mrs. Dalton (B.S. Radford College); Mr. Bolton (B.S. Business Administration, Roanoke College, M. Ed. VPI); Mrs. Huffman (B.S. Northwest Missouri State).

The Business Department of Glenvar High School endeavors to introduce students to the business world by offering various courses. Classes in shorthand I, general business, typing I, and clerk typing I and II are offered to students who wish to further their knowledge of the business world.

The Business Department offers Distributive Education classes which enable the student to live and work in a business atmosphere. They consist of D.E. I, II, and III.

The Roanoke County Education Center offers a program to students who wish to specialize in certain business careers. A few of the courses offered are Nursing, Computer Programing, Industrial Arts, and Cosmetology.

Students taking these courses are better prepared to enter the business world of today.

Administration is Business Essential in Everyday Living.

Business Education Proves Beneficial

Clerk-typing II student Pat Forlines works a problem on the electronic calculator.

Patricia Nantz works diligently on the full key adding machine.

Mrs. Jennings grades shorthand transcriptions.

Mrs. Dalton laughs at the outcome of a student's typing solution.

Mr. Bolton is caught as he comes around the corner of the bookstore.

Mrs. Huffman aides Carole Dillard on a problem she finds difficult to solve.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carico (B.S. Radford; Foreign Language League co-sponsor), Miss Kathryn D. Reynolds (B.A. Mary Washington College; Foreign Language League and Sophomore class sponsor).

Foreign Language Department Enjoys Changes

The Foreign Language Department created a realistic atmosphere of foreign lands and customs for students eagerly in quest of this knowledge. New books and transparencies for the overhead projector made French and Spanish come alive for many first and second year students.

This year, Glenvar also offered French IV for the first time. French III and IV students were combined into one class where they concentrated on reading ability and comprehension.

This was the first year for Mrs. Carico as Spanish teacher. She stressed verb conjugation and oral pronunciation to better prepare her students in the Spanish language.

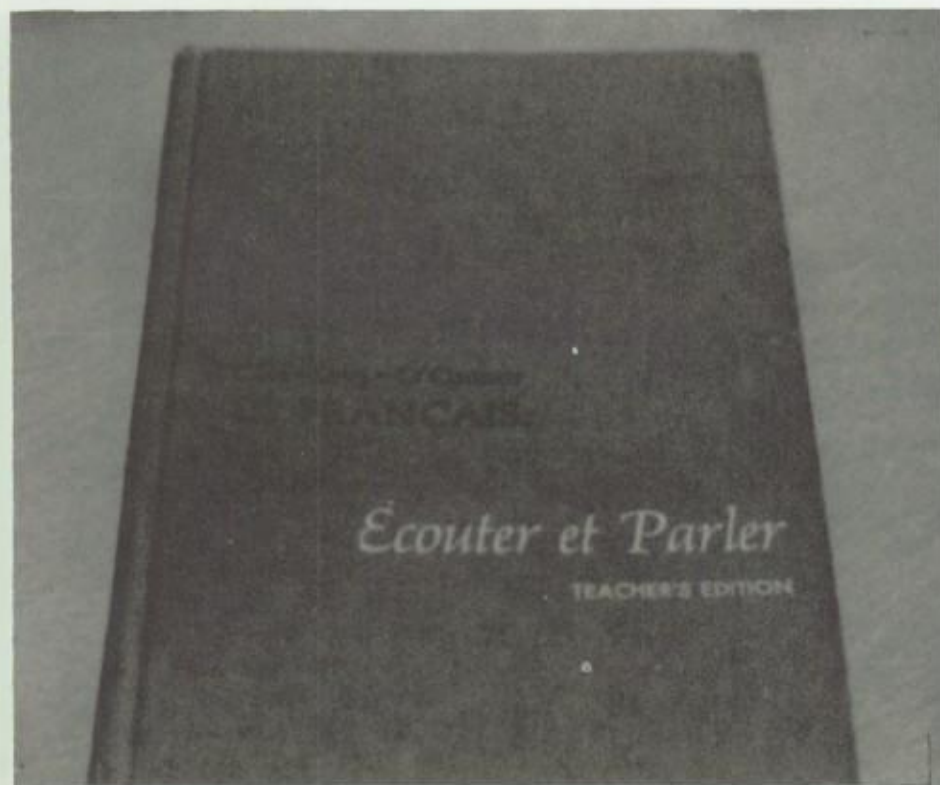

Mike Flinchum becomes absorbed in a foreign world as he listens to authentic French tapes.

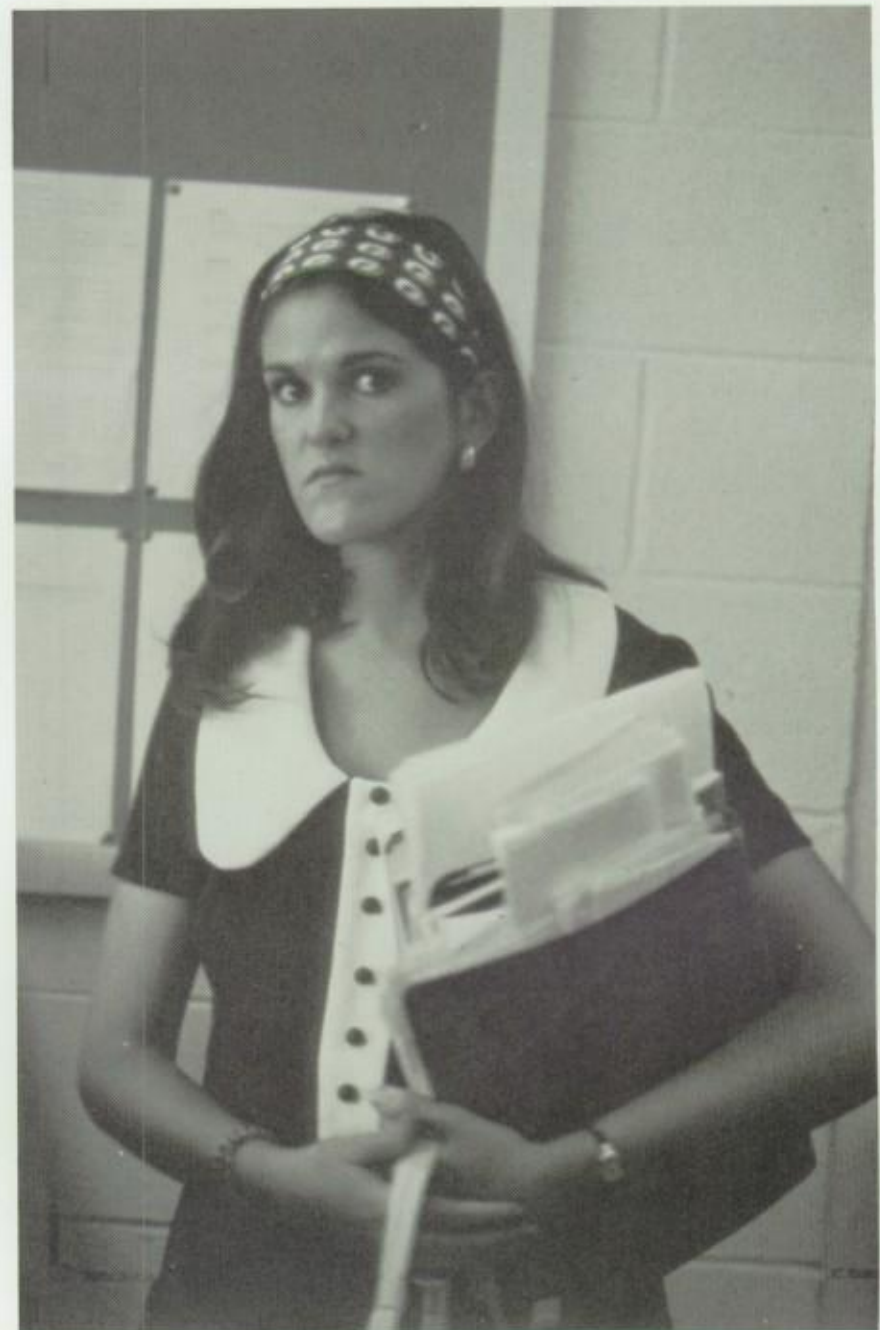

Important French cities are pointed out by Ruth Hudson.

Tracy Dyson eagerly takes out her book for another exciting day in Spanish class.

First year French students study listening and speaking for a solid foundation.

Mrs. Carico prepares to leave school laden with Spanish tests to grade.

Becky Ferris is preparing her palette for an oil painting.

These students work hurriedly to complete the art assignment that is to be turned in at the end of class.

Students Explore Various Media Through Art

Miss Watts skillfully creates a frame for one of her many works of art.

Miss Diane Watts (B.F.A. University of North Carolina, sponsor of Y-Teens), and Mrs. Lynn Mooney (B.S. Winthrop College, Sponsor of Science Club) are Glenvar's two art teachers.

Busy at work, Roger Claudale tries his skill in pastels.

This year Glenvar High School was privileged to have two talented art teachers. Mrs. Mooney took charge of all first year art classes. Miss Watts had two second year classes, and with two art teachers, Miss Watts has had time for a third year class for the first time in several years.

The first year students worked on one project at a time, with all the students working on the same thing. Their first project was a pen and ink, and they then tried a variety of things such as pastels, tissue paper, and oils.

The students in second year had an opportunity to try many different media. They worked on many different projects with different ones going on at the same time. Third year students were the more advanced students who tried their skills at a variety of levels.

Together, Miss Watts and Mrs. Mooney really made the GHS art department a successful one.

Creativity Is Goal Of Music Department

The music department of Glenvar High School has strived to involve the student body with all phases of music. It was the aim of the department to teach students to use their musical abilities in expression of feelings and creativity.

The advanced choir, as well as the Beginning choir, participated in several activities at school and in the community. The students were taught the fundamentals and concepts of correct artistic singing so that knowledge can be transferred to other music. They were also taught to master other specific items concerning singing.

The band also had a busy year. They had a Christmas concert and took part in several other activities in the valley. Both the band and choir added greatly to the school by their programs and their contribution to the community.

Our band director, Mr. W. Grant, stresses the need of organization when participating in the band.

The 7th and 8th graders of the beginning choir learn the basic fundamentals of singing.

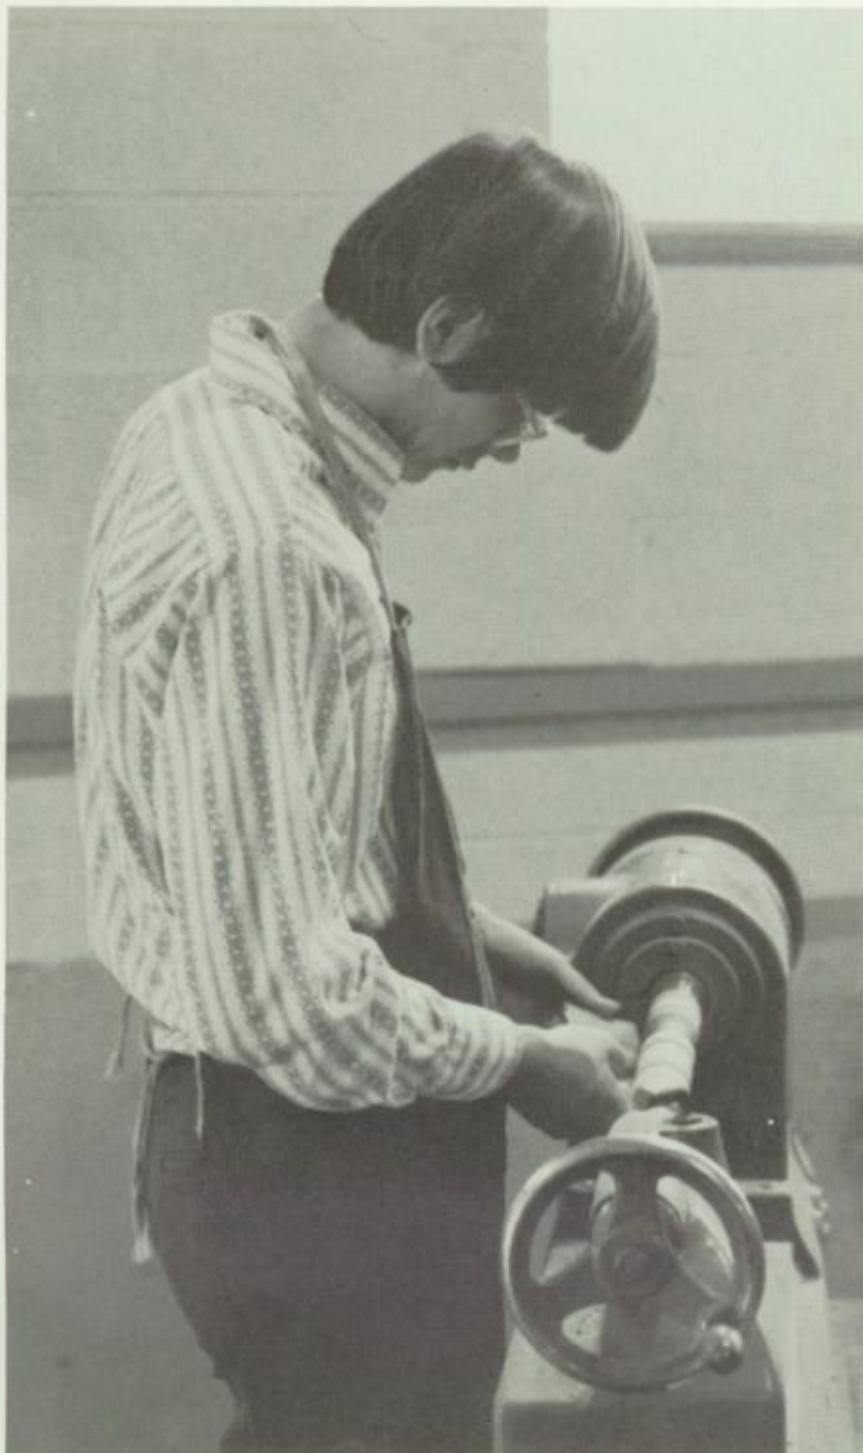

Cindy Beach practices a difficult number for her music program.

Miss Booe instructs the beginning Choir.

Steve Ellis practices the kettle drum for his arrangement in the band concert.

David Crawford uses the lathe on one of his shop projects.

Crafts Accomplished in Industrial Arts

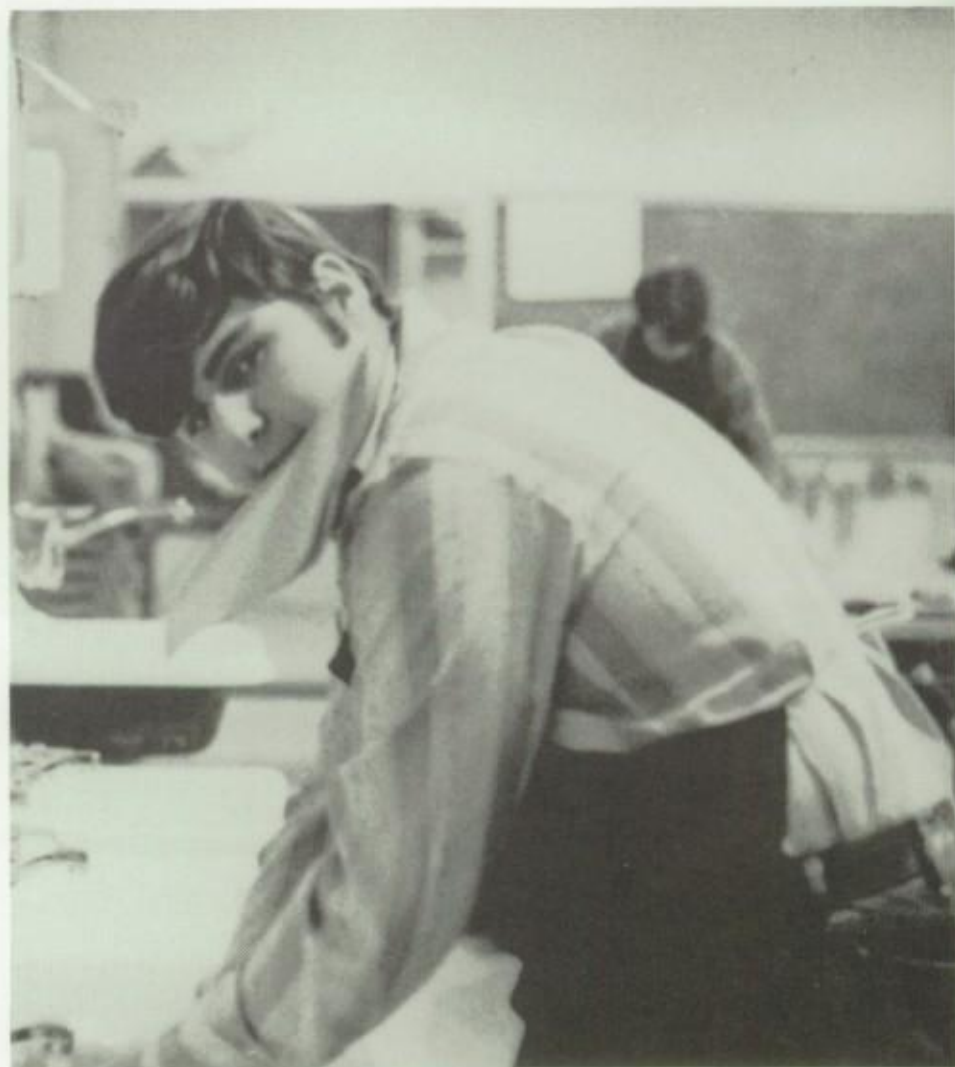

This year's industrial arts classes were taught by two very talented teachers. Mr. Carpenter came back for another year and was joined by a new addition to the faculty, Mr. Wolfe. Together they worked very hard to make this year a successful and fulfilling one, not only for themselves, but also for their students.

Several activities were planned for the shop classes. During the first nine weeks, drawings were made, while during the second nine weeks, wood-working was done. In the third and fourth nine weeks, classes concentrated on metals and electricity.

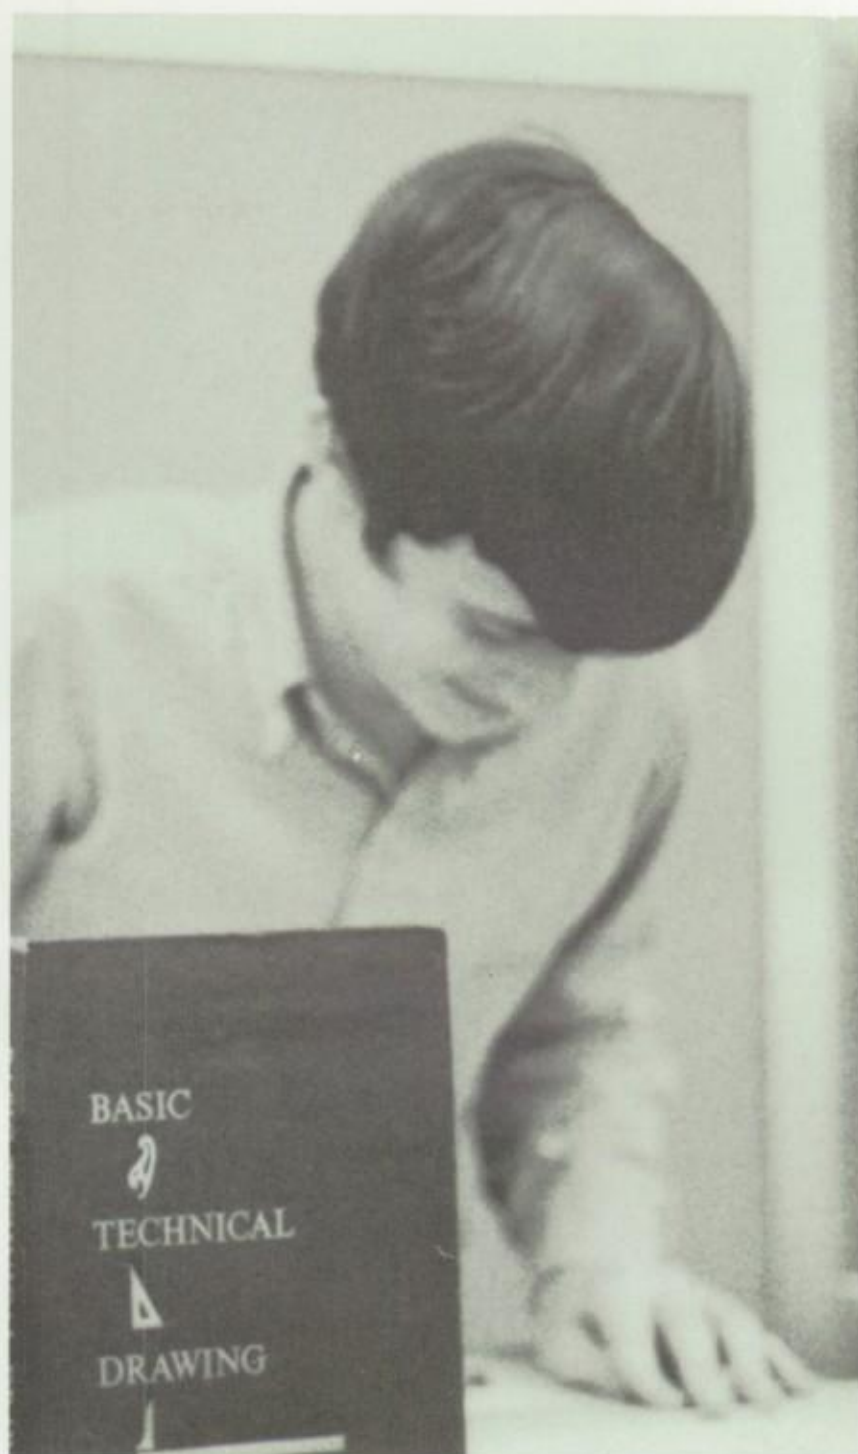

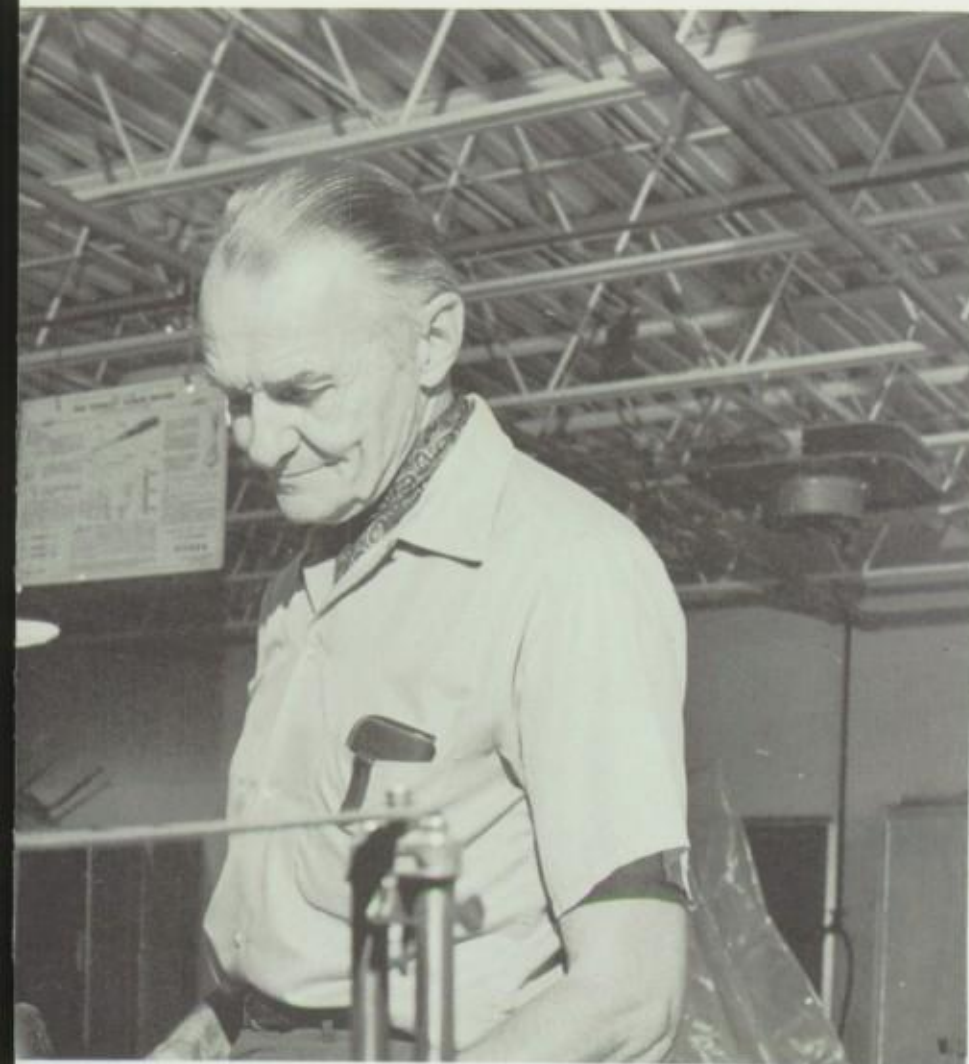

Mr. Carpenter's mechanical drawing classes were kept very busy. Their schedule consisted of blueprints and various drawings.

Home Ec Provides Girls With Training For The Future

If you think Home Ec is an easy subject, just consider some of the topics that are dealt with in class; childbirth, zippers, foreign foods, and food buying. More and more girls are finding that these are areas that need to be developed in high school. With more girls applying to take Home Ec every year, the program is being developed into a well-rounded home economical course.

Some of the main events of the Home Ec department this year were Mrs. Cobble and her students appearing on Panorama to model clothes they had made, Cathy Moeller receiving the Betty Crocker Homemaker award, and Terry Dickerson serving as the CO-ED Magazine correspondent.

Techniques of Driving are Well Emphasized

Looking back on past years, Driver's Education has been taught but not well emphasized. This year something new was added to the course. The first nine weeks of the school year was devoted to special book classes. This involved only Sophomores, who learned all the techniques of driving from the book. After the classes were over, the students started for the range, where they got their first chance to be behind the wheel. They learned to park, back up, and all the other responsibilities of driving. If they passed both parts, then they were able to get their licenses.

Mr. Jacob Stephen Hyer (B.S. West Virginia University) and Mrs. Clara Sublett (Michigan State, University of Va. Extension) confer on a student's driving abilities.

Student Teachers Enjoy the Friendly Manner of G.H.S.

A constant flow of student teachers at GHS has kept the daily routine ever changing. Every department received at least one student teacher and some had as many as three during the year. The student teachers provided a break which was important to students because it let them get away from the usual daily routine.

As the newcomers learned to adapt to new situations, each student teacher used new methods and ideas to teach his subject in a way that was beneficial for both student and teacher. They gained confidence in themselves and earned respect from the student body.

Time to count money!

Mrs. Lawson stirs up something for another school day.

Mr. Barnes is the head custodian.

The Service Staff of Glenvar consisted of two custodians, cafeteria workers, one maid, and one night-watchman. A lot of hard work and time was put forth by this capable crew.

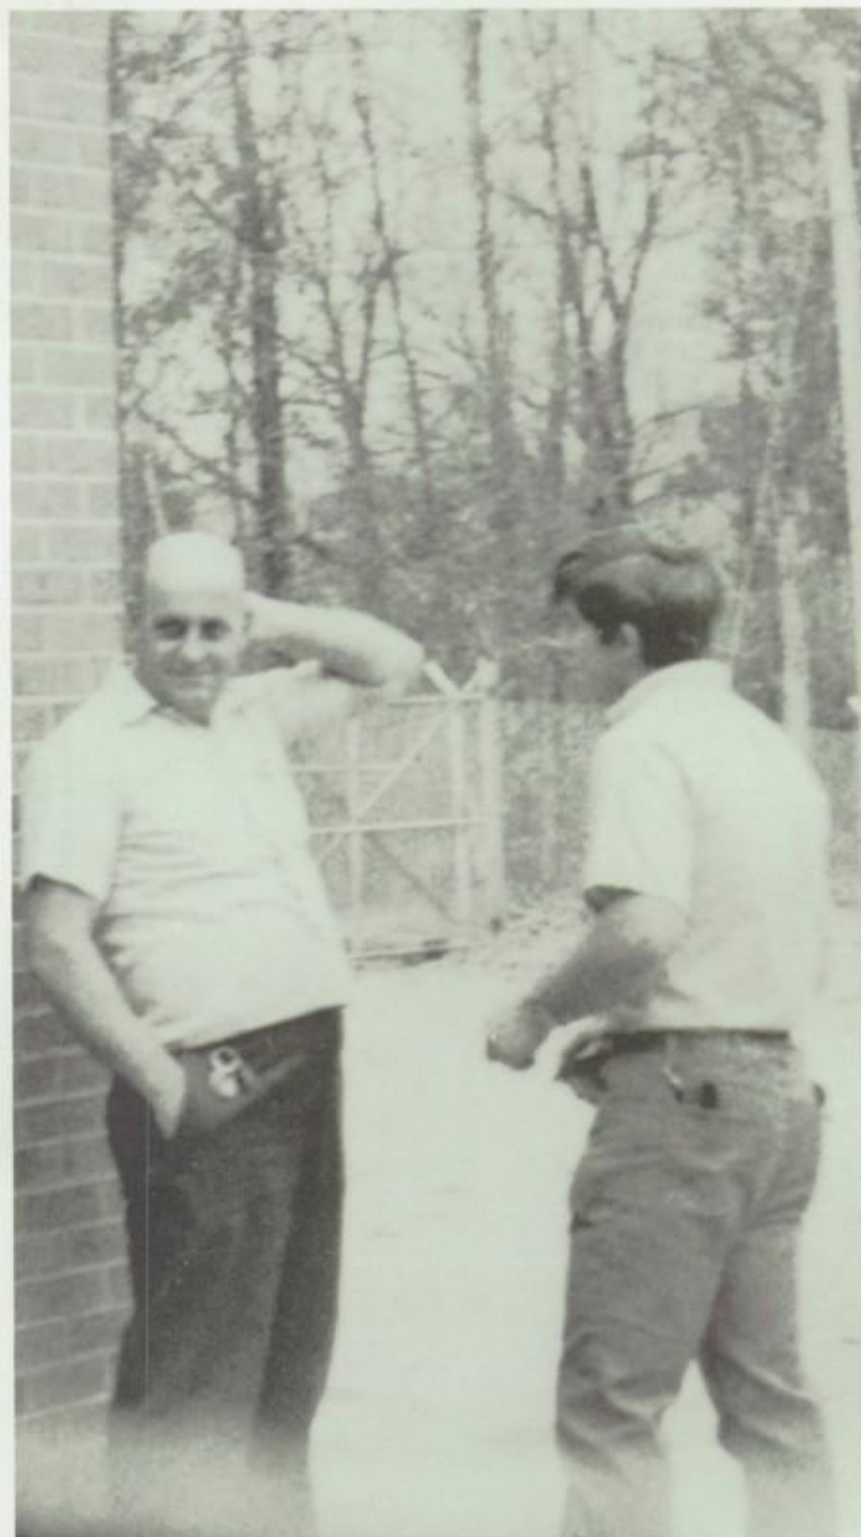

The custodians were headed by Mr. Barnes and assisted by Charles Statzer. Each one has done his part in helping better the appearance of our school. The maids, who worked along with the custodians, managed to keep our bathrooms and fountains clean.

The cafeteria staff worked diligently each day to prepare the students a well balanced meal.

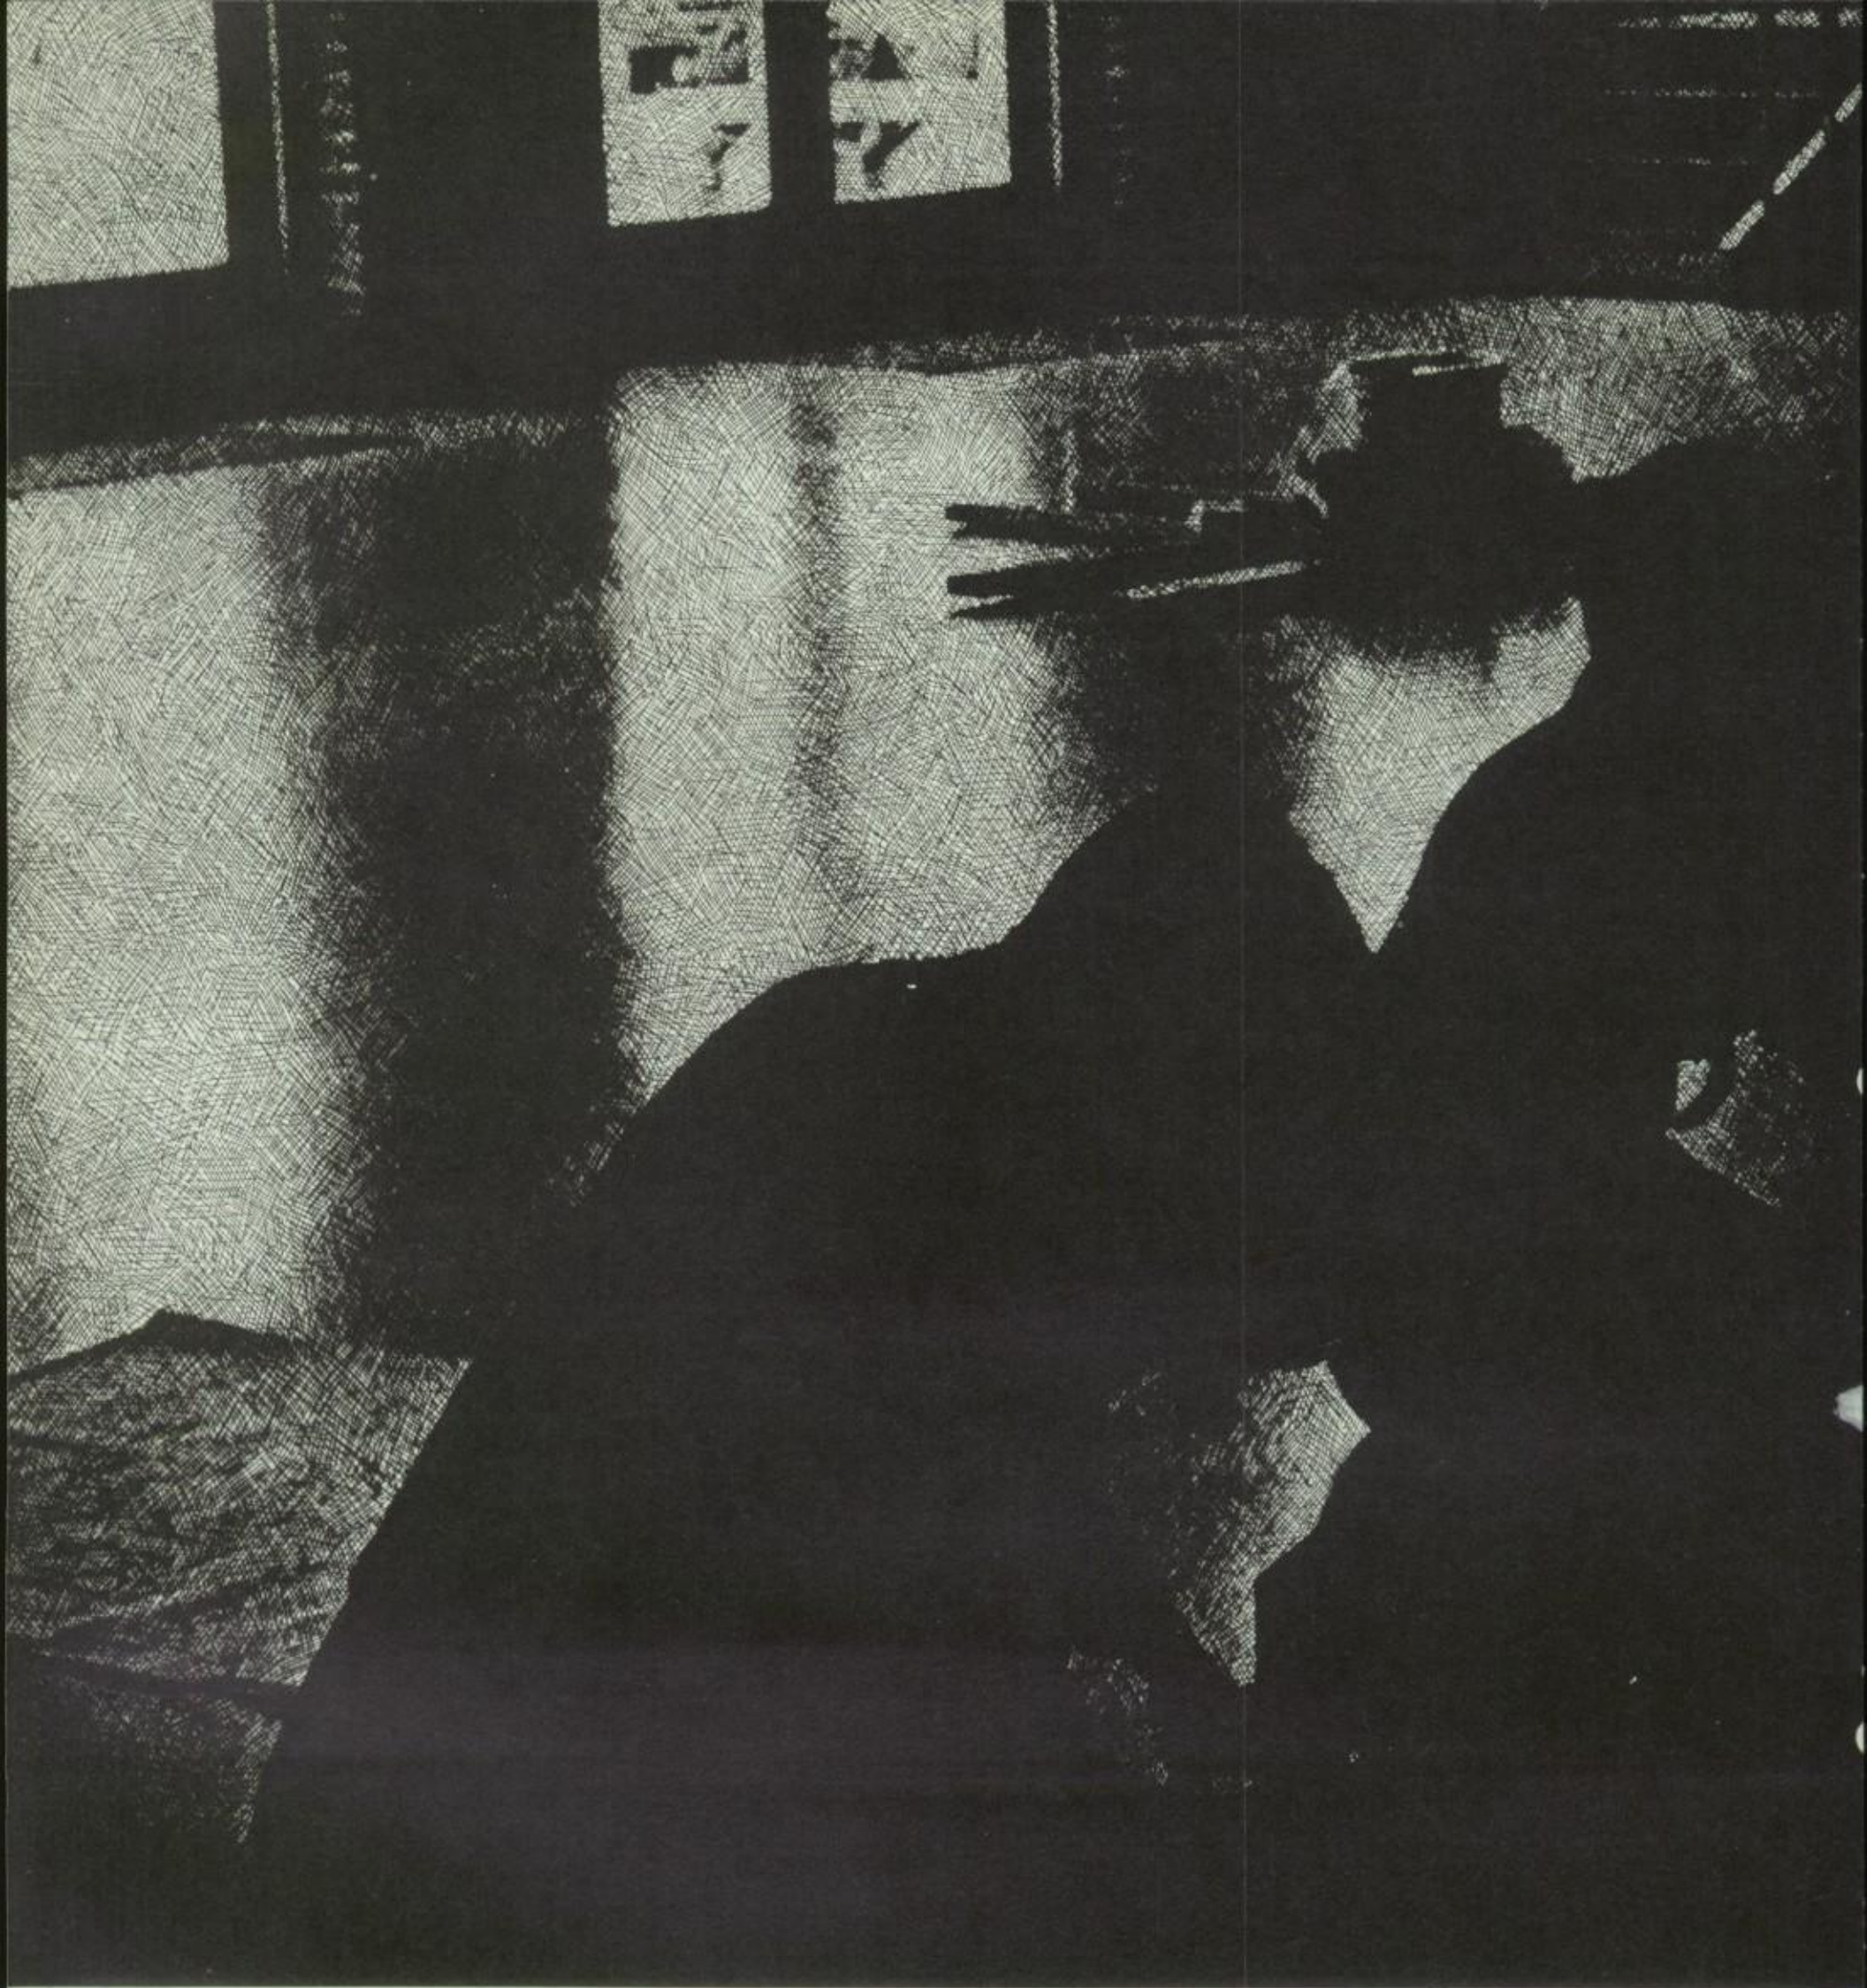

The night watchman who is never recognized as part of the staff, keeps late hours each night, working behind the scenes, protecting our school.

Mrs. Culum takes care of the money at lunch time.

Charles Statzer, assistant to Mr. Barnes, plans the day's work.

Highlanders

The student body of any school is its most important asset or liability. But the students of GHS are more than an asset, they are the school's salvation. Due to the fact that Glenvar is a relatively new school, students in the past have found it easy to sink into an air of indifference. But the Highlanders of today are different, and it is apparent. The student body display an undying spirit of enthusiasm and pride in backing a school that they now so proudly call theirs. Attendance and performance at sports events is high, as is participation in extra-curricular and community activities. A new era is starting at GHS, and the Highlanders are responsible. For it is they who have succeeded in delivering Glenvar from the realm of apathy.

The Class of '72 . . . how far away that seemed just five years ago when we were in the eighth grade. We were all so positive that 1972 would never get here and that we would be underclassmen forever. And now it's here . . . and numbness is all that we feel. Perhaps we are too afraid of what tomorrow holds and a bit too eager to experience it, to enjoy this—our final year at GHS. In the solitude of our own thoughts, memories of the happy times and the not so happy times, creep into our minds to create visions of yesterday.

There were times when we stood as one, and others when we stood alone. As we grew together and learned together, we began to realize that different people have different thoughts and ideas. We began to realize that no two people in this world were created to think, act, and live synonomously.

So now, in the last year of our high school life, we bring together the people of our youth. We came with a feeling of astonishment, and we now leave with a feeling of accomplishment. But even more important, we have within us a yearning to reach out for something not yet found.

Junior Class Worked Hard Throughout The Year

Class officers: Vice-President Mary Campbell; President Fran Richardson

Would you like to buy a bottle of Rex, or a magazine? Anyone have any suggestions for a theme, or for a band?

These are just a few of the questions you may have heard the Juniors asking this year. "Beauty and the Beast" proved to be a successful money-making projects for the Juniors. This showed a little of what was to be expected in working on "the greatest prom ever".

Realizing the importance of the last two years in high school we set out to make this one of the best years ever. As always each Junior anxiously awaited the arrival of their class ring, and looked forward to their Senior year.

Class Officers; Susie Graham, Treasurer; Linda Barbour, President; Prune Humphrey, Vice-President; (not pictured Peggy Reese, Secretary)

Looking back on this past year, we found it to be a year of many experiences. It was a maturing point and a time to conclude our preparations for the future. We no longer felt like underclassmen, but a bigger part of our school. We all changed our attitudes and decided that it was time to get our class together. We had projects that not only helped us gain money, but also helped us to unify our class. We concluded our last year of gym, and many found it to be a relief. As we remember our Sophomore year, we will remember it as a year of many experiences. We now look forward to our Junior year which promises to be the greatest of all.

Freshmen Seek New Outlook On School Life

Our Freshman year presented us with a whole new outlook of high school life. We were no longer pushed aside and ignored, but accepted as a genuine part of Glenvar. Given the chance, we actively participated in all facets of school life.

Academically, we were given the opportunity to try our luck at more advanced courses, such as a foreign language (other than English), Algebra, and IPS. Extra-curricular opportunities were available in activities such as clubs, cheerleading, band, and sports. We developed a sense of unity by competing with the other classes in building a spirit chain.

It was an active year to say the least. Each new day brought with it a challenge, and we faced them eagerly. Each Freshman found that he could truthfully ask himself, "Apathy, what's apathy?"

Eighth Graders Look Forward To Their Freshman Year

Kelly Viars, Treasurer, Paula Parker, Vice-President, Steve Pillis, Secretary; Mark Bair, President.

The Eighth Grade class has played an important role at GHS this year. They have taught the older students a lesson for which they should be extremely grateful. The eighth graders revealed their fervent enthusiasm and spirit at Homecoming when they had the longest spirit chain. Their presence at all school functions was evident. We at Glenvar are lucky to have them, for they have definitely exemplified the qualities of a spirited Highlander. The eighth grade class has helped in delivering Glenvar "from the realm of apathy."

Enthusiasm In School Activities

Pep rallies are new to seventh graders.

We entered the unknown with eager anticipation. We had finally made it to high school. Many new experiences awaited us as we progressed through the year. There were locker combinations to learn, pep rallies to cheer in, games to attend, and publications of our own to enjoy. We earned our first class money as we sold doughnuts and collected newspapers for recycling.

As we enjoyed many new experiences, we also endured some. After a few trampling sessions in the halls, we learned to get to class quickly and to stick as close to the wall as possible.

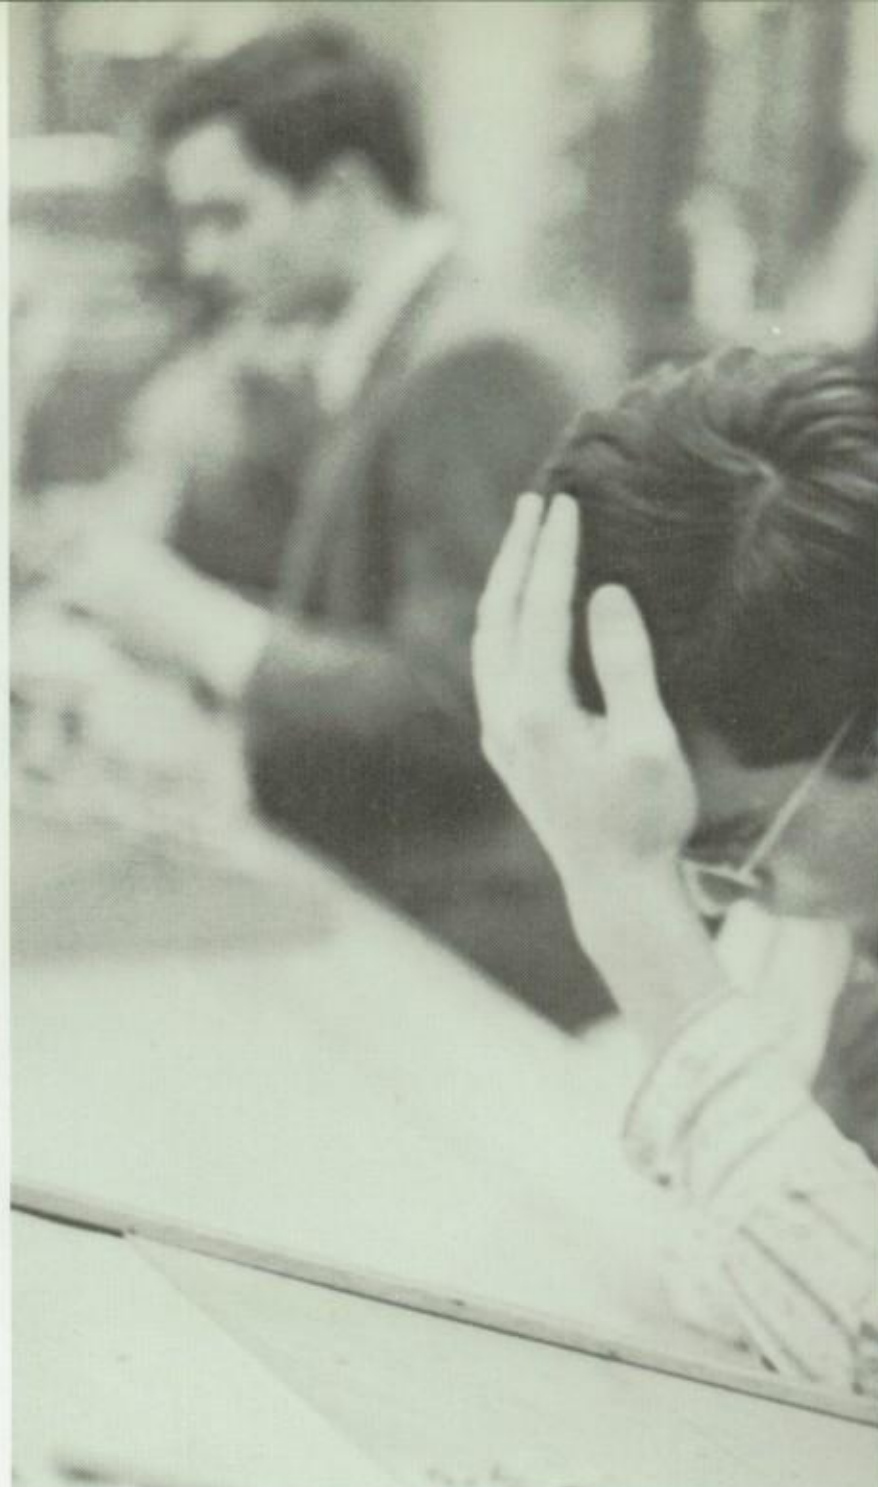

We faced the close of our beginning with mixed feelings. Although we would never again make so many fascinating changes so quickly, we were one year closer to becoming upperclassmen.

The Roanoke County Educational Center has once again given Glenvar students a chance to explore the vocational world around them. Many students who had failed to find their place in the academic world found that RCEC offered them their place in life.

Beside offering vocational training in business, computers, mechanics, cosmetology, and other various courses, RCEC gave the students the academic training they needed, not only to complete the requirements needed for graduation, but also to compete with others in later life.

Sheer determination is needed to understand the technicalities of mechanical drawing.

Athletics

Whether the school boasts a victorious team—or merely one that must survive on the knowledge that they have put forth a great amount of effort (and Glenvar has known both), the students of that school are constantly on the defensive end, protecting their school's reputation. The Athletic program has presented Glenvar with its biggest victories and its most heart breaking losses. It has aroused tears of victory and tears of defeat, but more important it has caused a student body to "fall in love" with a team (any team), that puts forth an effort to project an image for GHS. No individual program has been as important to the student body as the athletic program. Nor has any program been as effective as athletics in ridding Glenvar of the apathy that has developed in the past.

Pep Club Provides Wrestlers With Personal Cheerleaders

This year the Pep Club provided the wrestlers with their "personal cheerleaders." Using the name grappelletes, they had regular uniforms and gave the wrestlers treats on the days of a match. To be chosen, each grappellete had to be active in the Pep Club and have at least a "C" average. They were picked by the Varsity cheerleaders and the captain of the J.V. cheerleaders. Because of the grappelletes, there was less strain on the Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders who sometimes had two basketball games in one week. The grappelletes gave the wrestlers a sense of unity and capably cheered their wrestlers on to victory.

Becky Williams anxiously awaits the referee's decision of a close match.

J.V.'s helped to cheer their team on to victory this year. They went to every game and supported the team. They met new people and traveled to different places. The cheerleaders also went to camp during the summer and learned new cheers that they taught to the varsity cheerleaders. They practiced throughout the summer in order to perfect the cheers that they would use during basketball and football seasons. The J.V.'s were definitely a great influence for the team.

Glenvar Highlanders Produce A Winning Season

The Glenvar Highlander Football Team experienced its first winning season in the history of the school. Both the coaches and the team found themselves pleased with the success of the Glenvar Eleven. The team presented the school with several exciting games, including a victory at Homecoming and the first Varsity win ever over arch-rival Cave Spring, a 3A school. The Highlanders proved to be strong competitors in every grid encounter, with the majority of their losses coming in the final minutes of the game. It proved to be not only an outstanding year for the team, but also individual players found themselves to be tops among their competitors. Andy Gladden rushed for over nine-hundred yards, Joe Williams threw nine touchdown passes, and Charlie Dorsey and Buddy Keith made All-District. Although the team will lose many of its best players, the coaches are looking forward to an even better coming season.

J.V.'s Strengthen Team Unity and Pride

This year's J.V. football team, while not big in size or numbers, made great strides in improvement of individual techniques and team pride. This was due largely to the efforts of the J.V. coach, Steve Hyer. Cave Spring was defeated for the first time in J.V. football competition, and the remaining games were closely played.

Some outstanding highlights were Steve Nichols' 92 yard kick-off return for a touchdown against Alleghany County and Mike Lucado's catch of a game winning touchdown pass of 55 yards against Cave Spring. Fine defensive play was turned in by Mike Flinchum, Tank Wilson, and Mark Hash. This year's captains were Steve Nichols and Mike Flinchum. With a year's experience under their belts, the 1971 J.V. football players should contribute greatly to the 1972-73 Varsity.

The G.H.S. Varsity Basketball Team consisted of four new starters in the line-up. This meant adjustments would have to be made so as to yield a unified effort. They met with a success and learned to work together as a single unit. Their greatest accomplishment was put into perspective when they sacrificed individual glory for success for the entire team.

There were quite a few stand-outs in the line-up. The team's leading scorer was Richard Waldron with a 16.7 average. Jeff Rowe was the leading rebounder, while Rick Crotts was the leading free-throw shooter with a 79% average.

The enthusiasm and fervent spirit displayed by this year's team should be an example for the entire student body to follow. If we can be engrossed and captured in a deserving goal and spirit, as they were, then a current of involvement and concern would generate everywhere. Thus, the '72 G.H.S. Varsity Basketball Team has helped deliver us from "the realm of apathy."

J.V. Team Strives to Develop Skills

This edition of the J.V. basketball team appeared to have more size, more speed, and more talent than the teams of previous years. As many as nine or ten players could be a great help to the varsity in the future, and many of these boys have good height as an added factor.

One highlight was accomplished early in the year with a 53-49 victory over Addison on Addison's home court. Addison had not been defeated in J.V. competition at home for three years. Other highlights were Jim Mahala, who made twenty-one points and sixteen rebounds against Clifton Forge, who was previously undefeated until Glenvar stomped them fifty-five to thirty-eight. This year's J.V. team strove to develop themselves for future success on the G.H.S. varsity team.

In Coach Strong's own words, G.H.S.'s '71-'72 Freshman Basketball Team consisted of a "good group of young men with a fine future in athletics. Coach Strong gives a few words of encouragement and advice to raise the spirits of the team.

GHS Wrestlers Stay Ahead of the Rest

Repeat performance—what else could you call it? Once again the Glenvar Wrestlers have presented to GHS a State Championship. The team stuck it out through illness, personal defeat, and perhaps a loss of team pride at times. But, it has been said that a team shows its strength through acceptance of defeat, and it was at Northside that we encountered our first defeat in two years. It was a letdown to say the least, but perhaps it will serve as a permanent reminder that our wrestlers are not invincible to defeat. Nothing could remedy the wound but a State Championship. We had to have it. The team fought throughout the remainder of the season with pure courage, and courage proved to be the means to a successful end. The State Championship was ours—again.

Organizations

Perhaps it is within the clubs and organizations that a small amount of apathy still exists. The clubs are forced to meet after school and, therefore, membership is low because of transportation problems. Due to the lack of membership, there is also a lack of interest. But many clubs have found solace in this fact because those that do join are the ones who are willing to put forth an effort and make up for the lack of club members who might have possibly joined for the mere sake of joining. Clubs have found that quality outranks quantity as far as a club's success is concerned. Perhaps in the future, Glenvar will be successful in stimulating an interest in organizations, thus helping the student body to rid itself of the remaining fragments of apathy.

Student-Teacher Council

Formed at Glenvar

The Glenvar SCA began 1971 with a giant step. To bridge the gap between the administration and the students, a student-teacher council was formed. Its purpose was to analyze any problems which come up during the year and to solve them using both teachers' opinions and the students' opinions. Some major accomplishments were the elimination of the dress code and of chewing gum restrictions. Later in the year the SCA had a juke box placed in the cafeteria which proved to be very successful as a source of funds. The year ended with the SCA sponsoring the TRI-annual SCA.

The Green and Gold Marches On

The 1971-72 Glenvar band had a very inspiring year. Through sheer practice and dogged determination, they were able to put on a superb Christmas Concert which was attended by the entire school. In May there was a parade in Harrisonburg to attend. In Danville, bands from various areas, including Glenvar, met to be rated. A Dogwood Parade again took place with the Marching Green and Gold participating. Members of the band patiently sold tickets which made everyone who bought one eligible to win a boat and motor. All in all, 1971-72, was a very busy and exciting school year for members of the Glenvar High School Band.

Majorettes Achieve Awards at Camp

This summer, the GHS majorettes attended The National Majorette Camp at Lynchburg, Virginia. It lasted four days and during that time our majorettes won second place in half-time routines and second place in dance routines. They learned new skills and techniques they have utilized this year.

The majorettes performed at all our half-time shows this year. They twirled fire in three shows which provided an unexpected extra for the spectators. School spirit was strengthened as the majorettes performed in our pep rallies, for they added that extra enthusiasm necessary for good school spirit.

Spectators enjoyed fine entertainment as majorettes performed during half time.

GHS majorettes performed at the Senior Talent show.

Glenvar Choirs Gain A New Vocal Director

This year the choir gained a valuable addition, Miss Booe. She proved to be very capable, as she directed both the advanced and beginning choirs in modern, classical, and seasonal music. Under her supervision, the choirs joined with the band to present a Christmas assembly for the student body and faculty. The choir also performed for the patients at the Veterans Hospital during the Christmas season. Other annual performances are the choir's Spring concert and participation in the graduation exercises.

The choir has had a busy but rewarding year. All the members have received fulfillment from their work in achieving harmony in the Glenvar Choirs.

Editor, Becky Bush, stresses the importance of work before party.

Our year began in July with the selling of ads. When school began, so did the work. The atmosphere was one of happiness and unity. Working together taught the new members the techniques used in creating an annual, and gave the old members new ideas. Deadlines were always important. There was always a layout to draw, a picture to crop, or copy to write. Somehow we always pulled through. When the work was over there was always a party to look forward to. With help and guidance from editor, Becky Bush and sponsors, Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Huffman the staff was a great one with much success.

Mr. Cal Gibson visits often to give helpful hints to annual staff members.

Betty Jane Tingler and Sharon Flinchum work hard to complete layout before deadline.

Thistle Informs Students of Glenvar Activities

Once again, the Thistle staff succeeded in informing Glenvar students of the happenings at GHS. Under the guidance of Miss Anne Clayton, the staff's sponsor, and Eunice Bayse, editor, the staff successfully published eight newspapers. The staff was continuously busy selling ads, proof-reading copy, and writing articles. They also sponsored the annual student-faculty basketball game. It was a very successful year for the Glenvar newspaper.

Bagpipe Staff Works Hard To Produce School Magazine

Once again this year the Bagpipe staff banded together to produce a successful literary magazine. Under the guidance of a very capable editor, Wendy Scott, and an understanding sponsor, Miss Tabor, the staff compiled a group of poems and short stories and molded them into the Bagpipe. The staff not only produced a magazine but it also did the student directories this year. It proved to be a very successful year for the Bagpipe.

Pep Club Brings Unity Among Student Body

The Pep Club had a very successful year. This year is the second year the Pep Club has been organized. It was formed to help promote spirit among the student body. The Pep Club made posters for the different sports and came to the games to help back up the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders.

This year was the first year Glenvar had Grapplettes. Grapplettes are cheerleaders for wrestling. These girls were chosen from the Pep Club.

Honor Society Spent Most of Year Reorganizing

Membership in the National Honor Society has become recognized as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. Students selected for such membership are expected to exemplify and promote the qualities of Leadership, Character, Scholarship, and Service, for which the National Honor Society stands.

During the current school year the National Junior Honor Society and the National Senior Honor Society of GHS merged to form the Highlander Chapter of the National Honor Society. This chapter is open to students in grades 10 through 12 who attain a minimum academic average of 3.25 and who meet the other requirements suggested by the National Honor Society.

Science Club Strives to Achieve Better Understanding Between Students and Science

The aims of the Glenvar High School Science Club are to extend the opportunity for acquiring scientific knowledge and understanding beyond the activities of the classroom and to give service to the school, community and nation.

The GHS Science Club is recognized nationally as a chapter of the Future Scientists of America, an activity of the National Science Teachers Association. The club is affiliated with the Virginia Junior Academy of Science and the members participate in the annual meeting of the academy. The 1972 VJAS spring meeting will be held in Lexington.

Membership is open to any Glenvar student who has an interest in Science.

Foreign Language League Plans Trip to Canada

The Foreign Language League learned much about other countries in the 1971-72 school year. They were shown slides and films made by students who had visited foreign countries. The League sold candy and participated in a bazaar to raise money. This was to help finance a trip to Canada for the members.

Business Club's First Year Proves Successful

This is the first year for the Business Club at Glenvar High School. Its purpose is to promote the interest of students in the business world. The members participated in several money-making projects throughout the year to help finance the club. Some of these included the selling of pens bearing the wrestling schedule, bake sales, and the selling of candles. The club had a number of guest speakers during the year and went on field trips which helped the members understand the business world.

Students Realize the Need Step Out . . .

Become a Part

The purpose of the Future Teachers of America was basically to learn about the teaching profession. The opportunities, responsibilities and experiences were felt by all members. Their many activities started with a tea for the teachers. Later that year several members attended the annual FTA convention in Richmond and with much valuable experience behind them, the FTA ended a successful year with a spring picnic.

Homemakers Cultivate Creative Living

This year's theme of the FHA was "The Key to Preparedness." Around this theme were planned the yearly activities. Included in the plans were visits to nursing homes, hospitals and fashion shows. Speakers from different areas such as different local department stores shared their knowledge of fashions and designing with the FHA members. Also, the FHA cleaned the Highlander Stadium after each game. Thus ended a very eventful year.

D.E. Offers Training For the Future

Distributive Education is a cooperative vocational part-time training program which is designed to train high school students for profitable employment in the field of distribution. Operating within the framework of a three year program, students in D.E. I attend class for one period daily and receive one credit toward graduation. D.E. II and D.E. III attend class one period daily and work a minimum of fifteen hours a week at a part-time distributive job and receive two credits each year towards graduation.

The Monogram Club worked hard to erect bleachers for football season.

The members of the Highlanders Monogram Club consisted of athletes and the Senior cheerleading squad. Athletic success was the goal stressed and the achievement made.

The only requirements for membership was for the athletes to give at least one long season of physical strain from long tiring practices. Then they each gave their best in all the games.

The G.A.A. provided intramural and extramural athletic events for any interested girl in Glenvar High School. They raised money to support the volleyball, basketball, and gymnastic teams. Uneven parallel bars were purchased partly through the efforts of the G.A.A. Additional leotards were bought after their gymnastics show last spring.

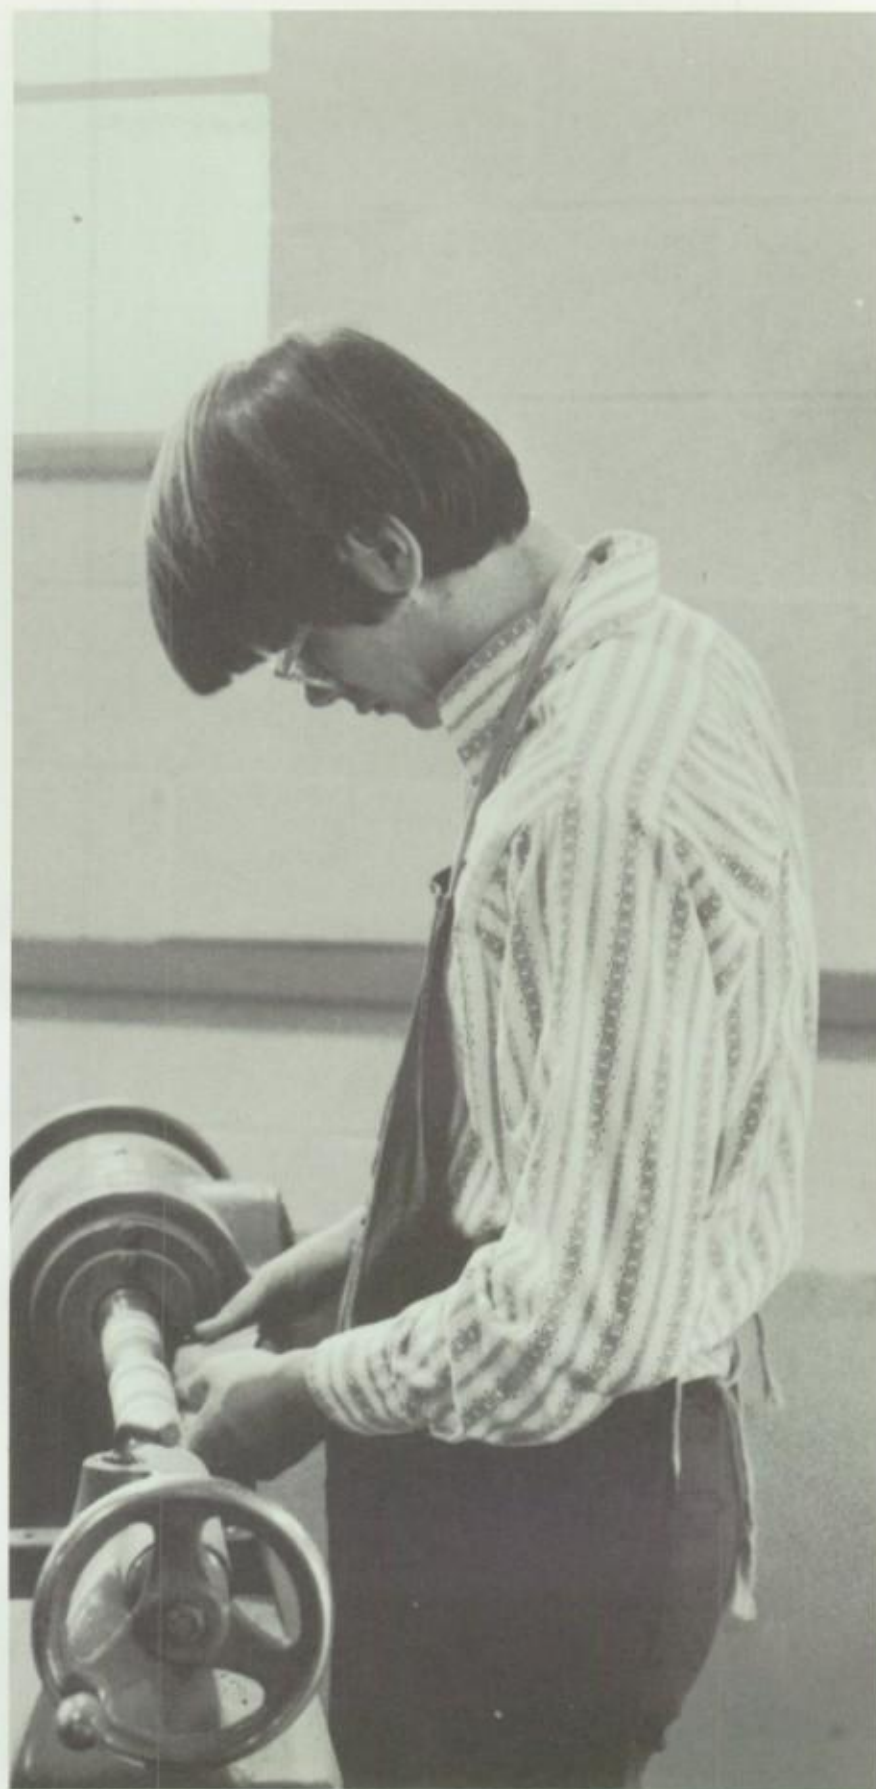

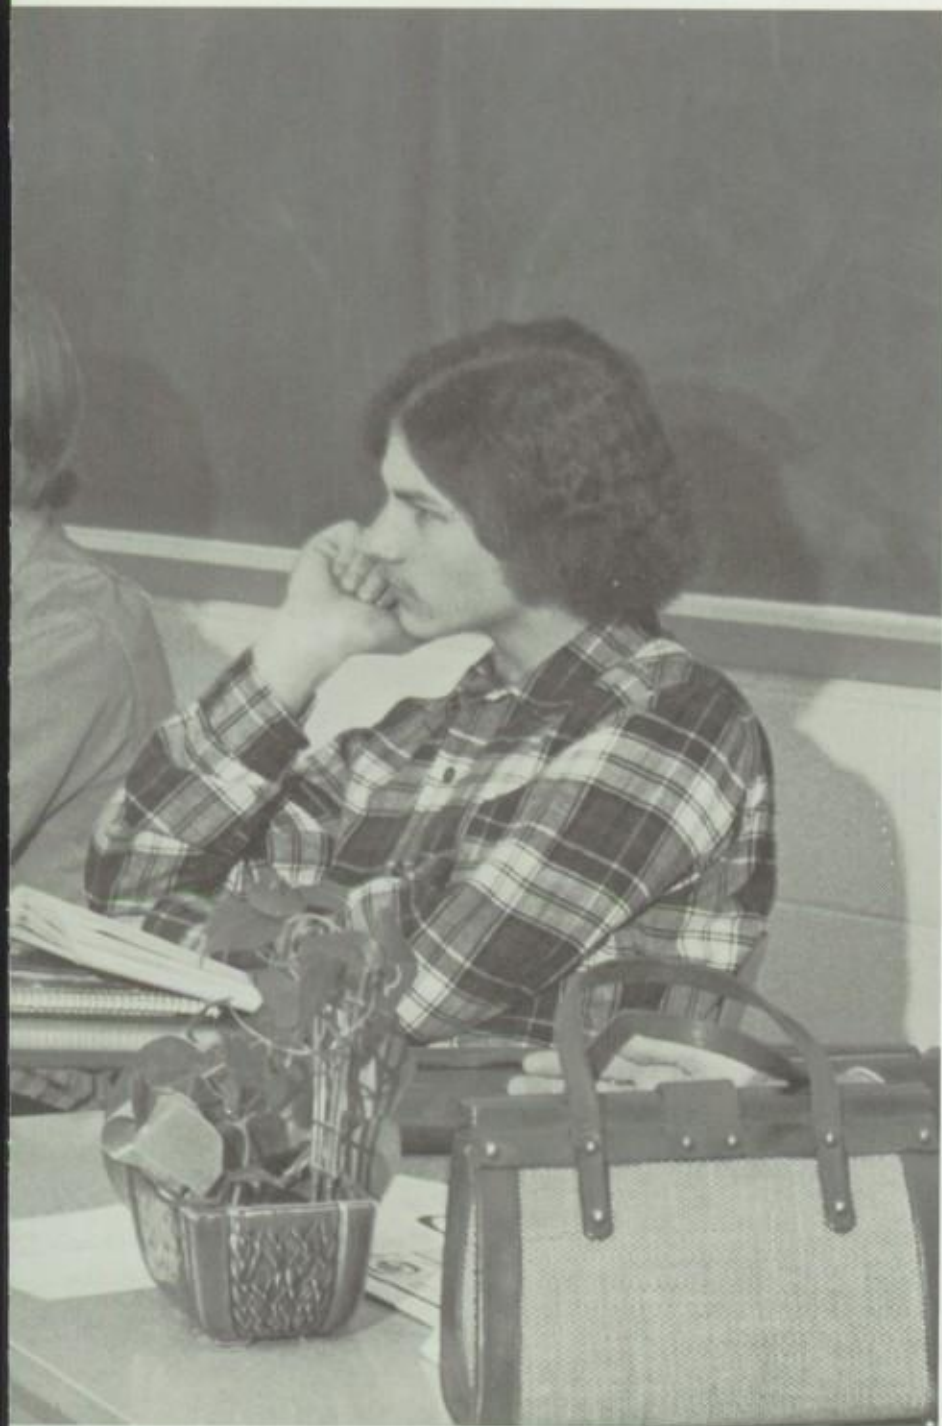

We have found that involvement is the only thing that keeps us from merely sitting back and watching a day pass, calling it ours as it speeds by in the form of day to day routines. Involved people alone are responsible for change, and isn't change what we so blatantly cry out for. Those of us who have become involved with the life at Glenvar have found a precious new meaning to life. Nothing can be more fulfilling than to come into contact with people and join together to support a common cause. And there have been many causes to support at Glenvar, whether it was cheering on an athletic team, giving a needy family a Christmas basket, or trying to get a jukebox for the cafeteria.

If there is involvement, there is no apathy. People who find plenty to do, (and there is always plenty to do), find little time to gripe about what is not being done. Those students at GHS who have become a part of the "Highlander Spirit" and who have found time to become involved, are responsible for delivering Glenvar "from the realm of apathy."

In Recognizing Need For Change, We Recognize Need For Action

We Must Now Try Our Luck At Ridding The World Of Apathy

The Yearbook Staff would like to thank the following people without whose help the annual could not have been published: Cal Gibson, our always available advisor; Paragon Press, our publisher; Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Huffman, our understanding sponsors; our ad solocitors for their support; and the student body for being the basis of our efforts. It is our hope that in years to come, when you reflect on your high school years, the 1972 Crusader will be of some help.

Through Involvement,
We Have Recognized The Potential of GHS

In 1882 Edison had a great idea.

And it wasn't the electric light.

The whole idea of investor-ownership of electric light and power companies began when Thomas A. Edison and a group of investors financed his first power plant more than 80 years ago.

Since then, investor-owned companies like ours have become an integral part of America's Free Enterprise system. That explains why today we have at our fingertips more electric power than any other country in the world.

And it's this same Free Enterprise system that puts at your fingertips greater opportunity, greater expectation for success than can be hoped for by any other young people in the world.

Imminent Desire to Better Glenvar Next Year

Spring came to G.H.S., and the awakening and awareness of Glenvar's potential did not subside. Though thoughts of summer and its restful, carefree days filled our minds, we still were involved with Glenvar and how we could make it better. Students supported the various spring athletic activities in hope that they could assure our players that we do care. Loss of sleep and sheer exhaustion were characteristic of a certain group of people who were trying to produce a great fiasco, commonly known as the Junior-Senior Prom. We lost many Highlanders in graduation, but that only accentuated our desire to better Glenvar. We would uplift Glenvar's standards so all past Highlanders could respect and cherish their alma mater even more. This momentous year at Glenvar came to a close; yes, we had ridden Glenvar of much of its apathy and indifference. But there was still improvement to make, and this year was only a foundation for us to build a school that each Highlander would love and respect.

Although the 1972 G.H.S. Track Team did not compile an impressive team record, (2,7), several individual stars emerged. One of them, Dan Cruft, set two out of five new school records. In the shot-put, Cruft set a record of 44'9" and in the discus, he threw for a distance of 35'11". Paul Blankenship set a one-mile record of 4:51.3, while James Mahala ran the half-mile for a school record of 2:10.1.

The Indoor Varsity Track Team placed third in the District and the Outdoor Team placed sixth. At the Cosmopolitan Meet held at Roanoke College, Dan Cruft came in second in the discus event, and third in the Regionals.

The Junior Varsity Track Team had a record of 3-1. They placed fourth in the District and fourth in the Junior Division of the Cosmopolitan. The J.V. Team showed much talent and promised to be a big asset to the Varsity Team in coming years.

This marked the first year that a Glenvar baseball team finished the season with a winning record. This third year the team ended 10-4, including the play-offs, and numerous goals were achieved for the first time. One of the highlights was Glenvar's 19 to 1 bombing of William Byrd, in which Mike Lucado collected four hits. Later against Addison, Roy Westmoreland added a no-hitter to his brilliant 6-0 regular season record. The first time that we beat Allegheny was a no-hitter for Westmoreland, too. Sandy Hill led the team with a .391 batting average and tied Scott Atkins for the most hits with 18. The team will lose only three starters and should be strong again next year.

Larger Team Proves Successful

Glenvar made a fine showing this year in tennis. The boys worked very hard and successfully under the guidance of their coach, Tom Kucer. The team consisted of thirteen members and their manager, John Nelson.

Steve Chu had an undefeated 9-0 season, and he also placed third in singles in district competition. Tracy Poff placed fourth in singles in the district. Buddy Kanode and John Webber combined their skills and placed third in doubles.

Bucky Wampler, Richie Richardson, Bill Gibbs, Sammy Smith, Coach Jones.

The golf team under their coach, Mr. Jones, completed the season with a fine seven and three record. In the Blue Ridge District, their totals included seven wins and one loss which gave them a first place finish. Among the outstanding players were Mike Waters, who paced individuals with a ten and zero record during the regular season, followed by Bill Gibbs at eight and two. In the state tournament, Bill Gibbs tied for seventh place while Mike Waters finished tied for fifteenth. Bucky Wampler and Richie Richardson in their first year were a great boost to the team.

Be Young, Be Foolish, But Be Happy

Glenvar High School's Junior-Senior Prom was a little bit out of the ordinary this year. Instead of having a "Lover's Lane" type setting, there was a beach scene. The beach music was supplied by the Tams, and the color scheme was yellow and orange. May 6 was the date of the big event and a free and easy atmosphere was created with the theme Be Young, Be Foolish, but Be Happy!

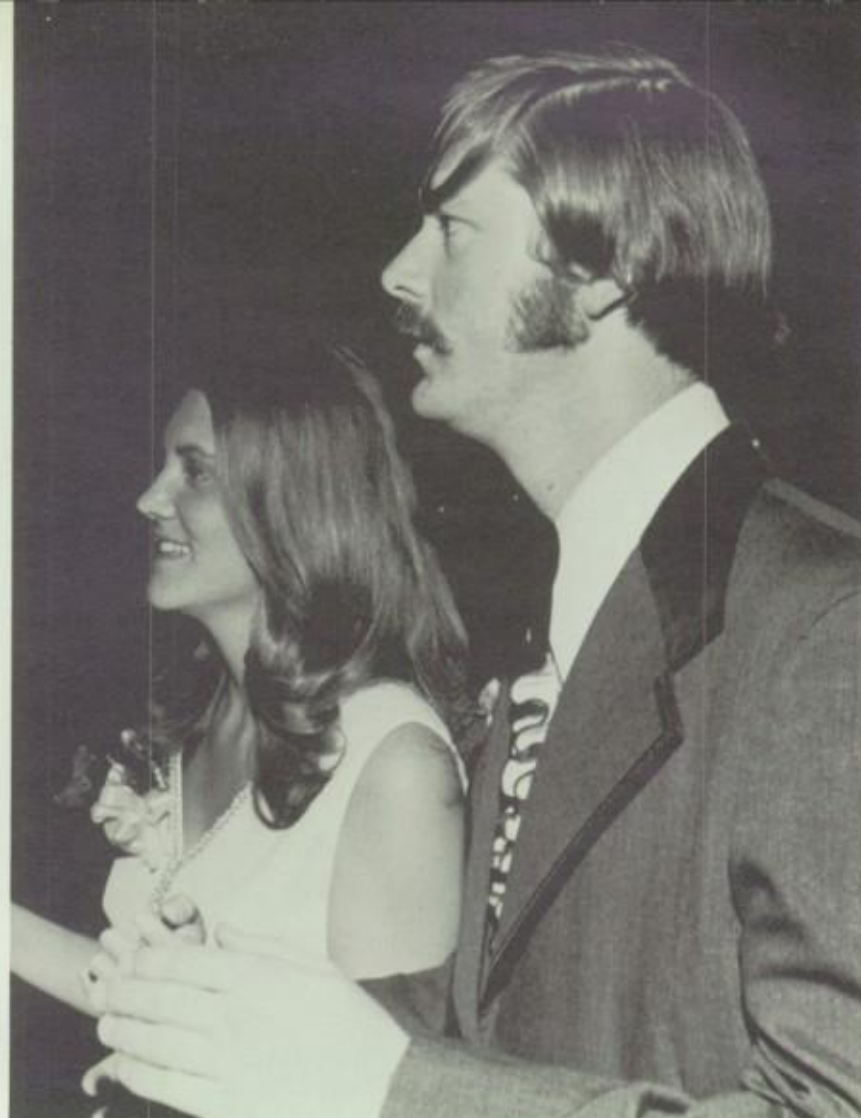

The refreshments were served in a bar decorated with collages.

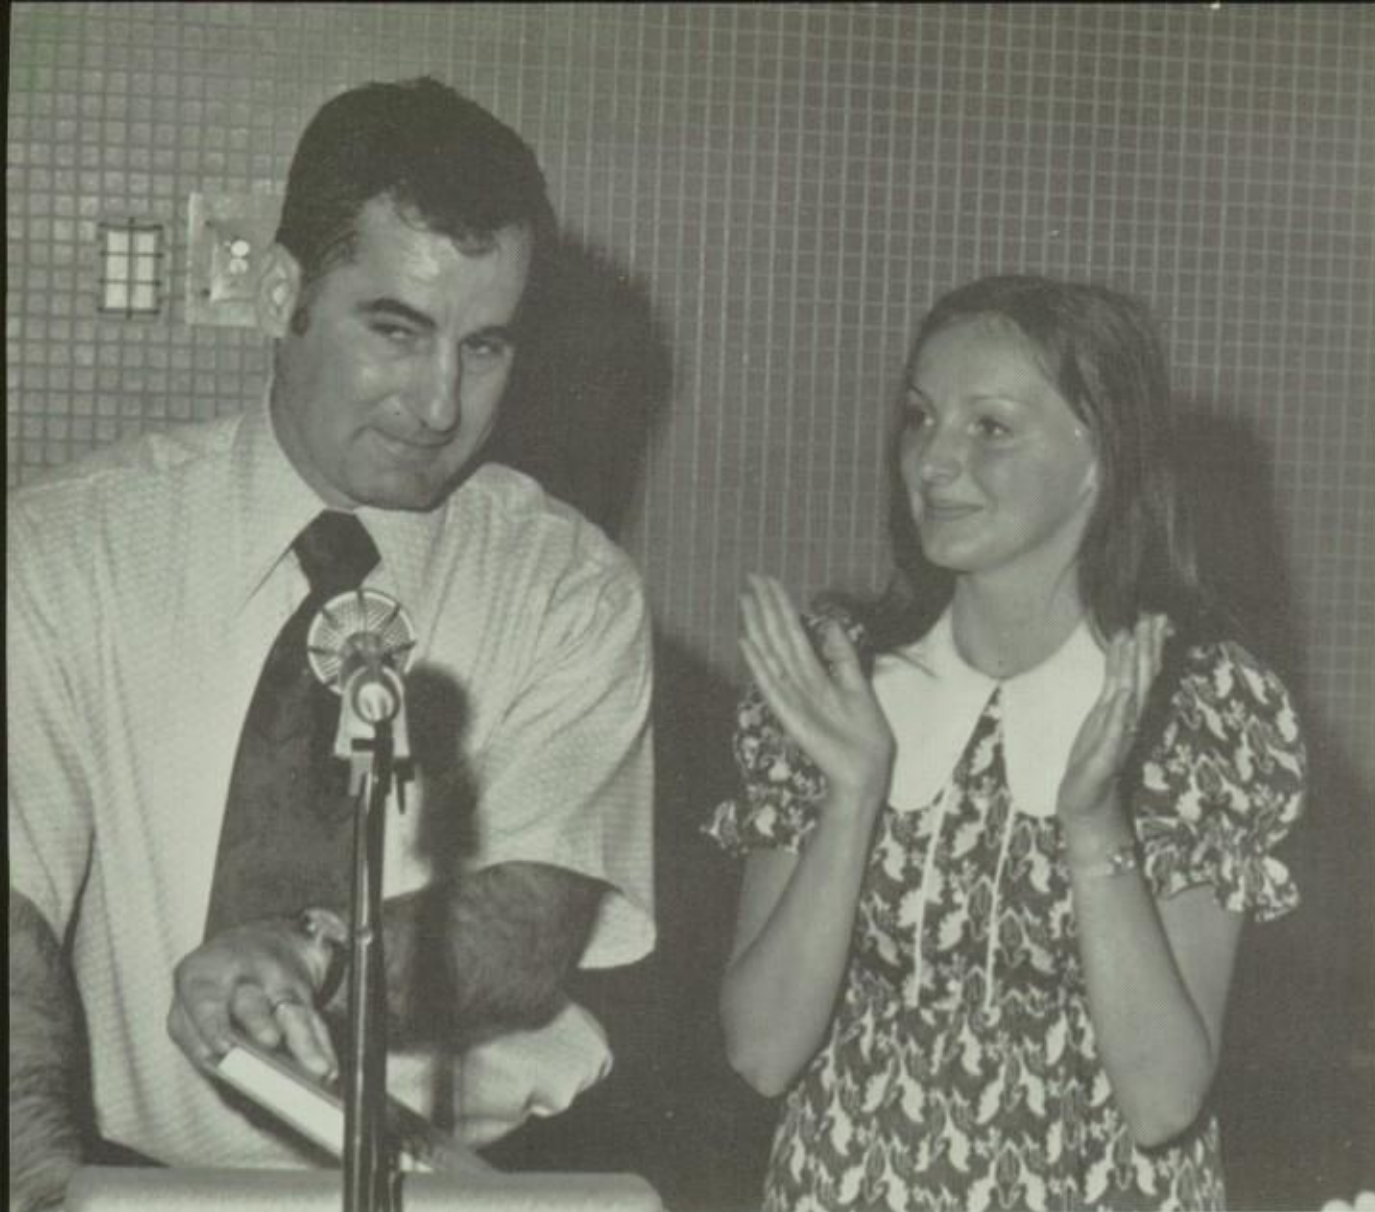

The audience stands attentively as the Tams play the theme.

Athletic Banquets Relieve Congestion from Awards Assembly

"It's a very emotional moment, isn't it Jackie," Our Girl Highlander of the Year.

Every year the students at Glenvar gather together in the gym to give honor to the students who have won awards. The awards given consist of achievements pertaining to scholarship, athletic, and leadership abilities shown through the year. These awards are something which the receiver treasures, and this assembly helps give them the recognition they deserve. Everyone who wins an award has worked hard for Glenvar and deserves the recognition. Several of these awards have helped Glenvar High School to become more widely known, and because of this fact, the Annual Staff would like to add a Thank-you and Congratulations!

June 1, 1972 was an eventful day for some 168 Seniors at Glenvar High School. Graduation, that vague, far-off day, had finally materialized. It was met with mixed emotions. There was jubilation over completing high school, but fearful anxiety over what the future held for each one of them. The guest speaker was Mr. George W. Passage. He tried to reveal to the graduates that the world wasn't as perfect and beautiful as it may seem, and that difficult decisions would have to be made.

In Memory Of

Cindy Gunter

Gary Pugh

The year is over but thoughts still linger in our minds. At this time we would like to remember two very special people who left in the past year. We will never forget them.
